Youngsters' Fanciful Easter Hats Usher In Spring

Easter hats were the subject at Stinson Beach School yesterday at a hat decorating contest for pupils and pre-school youngsters. Bruce Warren David of Bolinas and Dino Banducci of Stinson Beach (left) almost outdid the ladies with their heady creations. Audrey Schmidt, in third-fourth grade, sprouted a tissue paper flower from her hat garden. Jan Floto of Stinson Beach had a bird in hat. Bill Vitelli, in fourth grade, wore what he called a "satellite from the unknown." Children also hunted for eggs on the school grounds.

Court Action Again Filed By Railroad

Attorneys Claim Tunnel Building Will Continue

A brief filed by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad in San Francisco's Federal District Court yesterday left San Rafael officials scratching their heads and fearing a "double cross" on rebuilding of the Puerto Suello Railroad tunnel.

NWP attorneys denied a double cross, but said they were pursuing a crucial legal question which had remained alive even though the tunnel fight was settled.

The railroad last month appeared to have dropped its end of the legal fight which had gone on since the tunnel collapsed in a 1961 fire.

First, NWP attorneys said they would go no further in the legal battle. Then the railroad awarded a contract to Morrison-Knudsen Co. to reopen the tunnel in accordance with an order by the state Public Utilities Commission.

The construction firm is in the process of setting up its facilities at the north end of the collapsed tunnel and expects to begin the actual job sometime next week.

Yesterday, however, NWP attorneys filed a brief in support of one of two earlier requests to the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon the tunnel. This startled attorney Boris Lakusta, who has represented San Rafael and Marin County in the long legal fight.

Lakusta said that yesterday was a deadline the court had earlier imposed for the railroad either to file its brief or to formally drop its case. The matter went to the court, he explained, when the ICC turned down NWP's request and the railroad appealed this action.

After the railroad said its fight was over, Lakusta said, he assumed the case, too, would be dropped as soon as yesterday's deadline arrived.

"I just don't understand," he said after learning the brief had been filed. "To me it is just inconsistent."

Queried through the news bureau of the Southern Pacific, NWP's parent firm, railroad attorneys insisted they had filed the brief because a vital legal point was at stake and they did not intend to drop the matter even though the tunnel was to be re-opened.

The legal point, they said, was whether the ICC could turn down a request such as theirs without a hearing.

The petition in question was the second of three filed by the railroad since the tunnel fell in. The first was for abandonment of the tunnel; the third was for abandonment of NWP's Tiburon trackage. This petition requested the ICC to let the railroad give up one or the other.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he will pursue the matter with railroad officials Monday and probably will discuss it

Bruce Proposes Super-Agency For Marin Medical, Welfare Work

Seven Departments To Go Under Study

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce has proposed creation of a super county agency which would administer six existing county departments and a seventh yet to be created.

Bruce, in a written report delivered to supervisors yesterday, urged creation of the seventh department, a Department of Community Services, to bring to an end "a lot of thrashing around" on war on poverty and human relations fields.

He suggested that the super agency, "a health and welfare administrative agency," be formed in July with a part-time director, full-time administrator and a stenographer, to make a survey during the 1966-67 fiscal year on taking over administration of:

The Department of Public Social Services (welfare), the Health Department, the Medical Department, Community Mental Health Services, the Probation Department, the Veteran's Service Office, and the proposed new department.

Bruce cited a 1963 report by Marin Medical Society and county representatives whose recommendations included "consolidation of administrative, fiscal, statistical and clerical services fora ll departments operating in the health and welfare field."

The committee said this should be aimed at "fiscal efficiency," with retention of separation necessary for professional services in each field.

Bruce proposed yesterday that the change be made gradually and that it not go as far as one unified department. Each department to be brought under the "umbrella" of the agency would retain department status, he suggested.

Since the first year would not be an operational one for the new agency, Bruce said, there would need to be the three

Judge Considers $500,000 Fine Daily For Rail Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge ordered the striking Railroad Firemen's Union today to show cause why it should not be held in contempt of court and fined $500,000 for every day it continues its walkout on eight of the nation's major railroads.

U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff set 2 p.m. for a hearing on the request of railroad attorneys for a contempt finding.

The railroads accused the union of violating an earlier temporary restraining order by Holtzoff to halt all strike activity and picketing which has crippled the operations of the eight railroads in 38 states.

The proposed contempt of court finding would also provide for a fine of $10,000 per day against President H.E. Gilbert of the striking AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Gilbert has refused to order the men back to work unless the railroads promised there would be no reprisals against the strikers or members of other unions, and agreed to drop all court actions, including contempt actions.

Today's court move by the railroads was a direct rejection of the latter condition. The railroads had agreed earlier they would not take action against individual union members.

Under the contempt of court request by the railroads, the heavy fines would apply from today until the strike ends.

Even more immediate was the action in Birmingham, Ala., against three union officials found to have violated a temporary restraining order against striking the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co.

Federal Judge H.H. Grooms ordered the men jailed and U.S. marshals took them immediately into custody. The judge said he had no other choice.

"When a court issues a temporary restraining order it should be respected," Judge Grooms said, and set a further hearing for Monday to determine possible damages against the union.

The jail terms were ordered for M.L. Williams of Birmingham, chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; C.L. Caldwell, union national vice president of Roanoke, Va.; and W.M. Vandergrif of Birmingham, local union chairman.

Obviously the railroads hoped the potential penalties of contempt would force a return to work.

Gilbert earlier offered to end the walkout if the eight railroads involved agree there will be no reprisals against the 8,000 strikers and that no damage suits or

Rioting Vietnamese Beat American In Saigon Street

SAIGON (UPI) —Five thousand anti-government Buddhist students rampaged through the streets of Saigon tonight with shouts of "Yankee go home." They seized one U.S. soldier and beat and kicked him severely before he stumbled away.

The Buddhists, armed with bicycle chains and clubs and led by a semi-paralyzed youth waving a flag from the seat of a pedicab, snarled defiance of the troubled regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and laid screaming siege to the main Saigon radio station.

Meanwhile, two companies of the U.S. Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division today trapped an estimated Viet Cong company of about 100 men in a valley near Chu Pong mountain and called down air strikes, artillery and tear gas on the Communists.

The American troops were perched on both sides of a small narrow valley in which the Viet Cong were dug in, in trenches, foxholes and bunkers, about two miles east of the Cambodian border about 210 miles northeast of Saigon.

By nightfall the two cavalry companies made "heavy contact" with the Viet Cong and radioed for air strikes and artillery support. Cavalry heli-

Burglary? Or Was It Just Man's Love?

A 30-year-old Novato man, who may only have been trying to gain his fiancee's attention, wound up in the county jail yesterday on charges of burglary and malicious mischief.

Arrested was Kenneth William Tipton, of 1810 Indian Valley Road, who was badly cut on the right arm in the course of what San Rafael Police took to be a burglary at 1418 Second Street.

Thomas Rosevear, owner of the Second Street apartment building reported to police at 6:23 p.m. that he had seen a man break a rear window in the unoccupied apartment of Mrs. Jeanne Ziegler and enter. Police found blood on the shattered glass, the kitchen sink and a telephone. They asked local hospitals to report anyone applying for emergency treatment.

At 7:11 p.m., San Rafael General Hospital reported that Tipton had come in. After he was

There was little doubt that actor Ronald Reagan was the far-ahead favorite of the conservative-oriented group.

Reagan appeared before a screening committee in a private, closed-door meeting last night — and apparently made a good impression. Others were to appear today.

Tanker Ripped By Blast

MARSEILLES, France (UPI) —Two huge explosions ripped the 31,712-ton Liberian oil tanker Olympic Honour in crowded Marseilles harbor today, setting off a roaring fire that killed at least one man and trapped a number of others in the flames.

At least 25 seamen and four firemen were reported injured in the blaze which raged out of control for hours with minor explosions rocking the blazing hulk. No hope was held for the trapped men. The number trapped was not known.

But a fireman said he was able to glimpse, through thick smoke and flames the bodies of several men lying on the floor of one of the ship's empty oil tanks.

A group of port workers defied the threat of more explosions to try to reach the trapped crewmen by cutting a hole through the ship's steel plating.

French officials speculated been caused by gas fumes.

Port officials said the explosion occurred shortly after a work gang boarded the tanker to make repairs. They said the Olympic Honour was not loaded the first explosion might have at the time, but the blast tore a large hole in the stern of the ship and set fire to residual oil and engine fuel.

Two fireboats and all available city fire brigades, summoned by an emergency appeal over the Marseilles radio, poured geysers of water through the smoke onto the blazing stern.

Several tugboats chugged in to move another oil tanker moored near the Olympic Honour and prevent it from catching fire.

Officials said the Olympic Honour, owned by Rivadavia Maritime, Inc., of Monrovia, pulled into Marseilles for drydock from Gulfhaven, Denmark, on March 26, They said the tanker had a crew of 38.

U.S. Court Says 'Blue Cross' Can't Be Used

LAS VEGAS (AP)— A federal court has ruled that a Henderson, Nev., life insurance company must drop the name "Blue Cross" and go out of business.

The judge ruled yesterday that the name and "Blue Cross" symbol are the property of the American Hospital Association of Chicago, not the Blue Cross Life Insurance Company of America.

A spokesman for the insurance company said it closed last Jan. 1 and is liquidating its assets.

De Gaulle Support Set On NATO Base Act

PARIS (UPI) —President Charles De Gaulle is expected to receive almost unanimous support in the French parliament for his decision to oust NATO bases from France, informed sources said today.

De Gaulle, with the assistance of France's powerful Communist party, is expected to handily defeat a socialist-backed censure motion against his NATO policy, the sources said. The motion was tabled for discussion at the spring session of the National Assembly, which opened today.

Friday Etienne Fajon, a leading member of the French Communist party's political bureau, announced his party would oppose any motion to throw out De Gaulle's anti-NATO drive.

In an editorial in the Communist daily L'Humanite, Fajon warned his party would not support the motion tabled by the Socialists, which will end a three-day debate on foreign policy scheduled to begin April 13.

The Communist aim in supporting De Gaulle on the NATO question was seen here as an effort to weaken U.S. defenses in Europe even though this might in turn weaken Communist efforts to work out a united opposition bloc with the Socialists on the French home front.

The Socialist group tabled the censure motion earlier in the hope that the 35-member conservative independent bloc might walk out on the majority coalition. Conservative support is crucial in parliament for De Gaulle.

Navy Pilot Sues For Release

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A Navy pilot suing the government on grounds it is violating his rights by not permitting him to resign is en route today to a new assignment in Japan.

Lt. Cmdr. Laurence C. Baldauf Jr., 32, filed the suit after a U.S. District Court judge denied his request for a temporary restraining order against his transfer.

Baldauf said his Navy duty was to end in June but that an order by Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze deferred action on some requests for retirement or resignation.

Baldauf

The pilot, who said he wanted to remain in San Diego to take the California bar exam, claims in the suit that since the nation is not in a declared war denial of his request for resignation violates the 13th Amendment.

President Plans To Confer With Labor On Inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI) —With his official "family" on notice, President Johnson plans dinner talks with labor leaders in his continuing effort to stifle inflationary pressures in the nation's economy.

The talks with the labor leaders were expected soon—possibly next week. In the meantime he kept a close eye on economic indicators and awaited reports from his cabinets on the changes to cut government costs.

Also in the offing were personal meetings between Johnson and educators, doctors, news media representatives and leaders in other fields for discussion of specific ways they can avoid inflationary practices. ces.

Friday, the President met with his cabinet and federal agency chiefs to find ways to cut $1 billion from federal spending between now and June 30. His hope was to keep this fiscal year's deficit to $5.3 billion, despite estimates a year ago that it would total $6.4 billion.

The economy plea to his official "family" followed by just a day his urgent request to businessmen, housewives and local government officials to slash their spending wherever possible.

But while Johnson pushed for federal thrift, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was denouncing administration-proposed reductions in education funds.

Kennedy told a Senate education subcommittee it was no time to cut education funds since the U.S. was spending "$1 2 billion each year killing people in Viet Nam."

The President's action to hold down federal spending was sure to win approval from business and industry, which say they prefer that to a tax increase.

Wilson Will Move Quickly On Economy

LONDON (UPI) —Prime Minister Harold Wilson plans to immediately tackle Britain's mounting economic problems and play a larger role as an international peacemaker, government sources said today.

They said his resounding election victory would strengthen the Labor government's support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

In addition to Viet Nam, rebellious Rhodesia and the simmering "confrontation" between Malaysia and Indonesia are among the trouble spots he plans to give top priority, the sources said.

Wilson also will study closely prospects for Britain's entry into the European Common Market, officials said.

On the home front government sources predicted Wilson will reshuffle his cabinet before Easter.

With 629 out of 630 results announced from Thursday's general election, the new Wilson government appeared likely to have a majority of 97 seats in Parliament.

Labor gained 49 seats and lost one. The Conservatives lost 51 seats and made no gains. The Liberals gained four and lost two.

"Net impact on future budgets would be expected to be favorable by reason of economies through pooling of resources," he said.

First year study would include consultation with state officials and representatives of San Mateo County, where Bruce said such an agency has been in operation several years. "Interrelationships" among departments and means of strengthening them would be the emphasis of the year's study.

Bruce said the agency would be more receptive and adaptable to continuing changes "as technology and knowledge of social processes advance."

He claimed it would save money and increase efficiency, and that service to the public would be improved.

"At present, a given individual or family may be seen regularly by professional staff members of several different county departments," he wrote.

"Often this could be reduced to one, with other team members consulting on occasion only, referrals the exception rather than the rule, elimination of buck-passing, elimination of conflicting approaches, and saving of staff and public time and frustration."

Supervisors are not expected to take any action at Tuesday's board meeting, and formal action will probably not be taken until budget discussions in June.

Bruce urges consolidation of the community relations services now part of the welfare department with job opportunity work for minorities and other undertakings of the Human Rights Commission.

All war on poverty programs would come under the new division, he said, along with the county's apprentice program and community action committees.

He recommended creation of a community services commission which would include members of a reorganized, seven-member Human Rights Commission and representatives of community action committees. This commission would advise on all function of the new department.

Protests Seen On City Hall Furniture Bids

Bids on furniture in the new city hall will be examined by the San Rafael City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday at the old city hall.

Before any contract is awarded, however, councilmen undoubtedly will hear the angry comments of several Marin furniture dealers who have charged the specifications were drawn to exclude all but one firm, Western Contract Furniture Co. of San Francisco.

The specifications call for six lobby chairs which retail at $980 apiece and a lobby table which retails at $410.

Bid opening is scheduled for 1 p.m. Monday.

Councilmen also are expected to award a contract to Joseph DiGiorgio and Son of San Rafael to build the long-awaited Glenwood fire station for $78,920. His was lowest of eight bids submitted to the city fire commission Wednesday.

Hearings are scheduled on appeals of two planning commission actions. One is the appeal of Mobil Oil Co. on commisison refusal to approve plans for a service station at Francisco and Bellam boulevards.

The other is a petition, signed by 58 persons, objecting to issuance of a permit to two men to operate weekend dances for teen-agers at 70 Woodland Avenue.

Still other agenda items are an ordinance establishing fire zones and an agreement with the San Rafael elementary and high school districts establishing each district's share of costs in the city recreation program.

The ordinance is scheduled to be passed to print.

Monday night with the city council.

In awarding the contract to Morrison-Knudsen, NWP avoided mention of any price tag and said the award was on a "contingency basis" since no one knew exactly what shape the tunnel was in.

Yesterday, Andersen voiced a fear the railroad has hired the firm on a day-to-day basis only and might drop the contract without finishing the work if the tide of the legal battle—which has gone against NWP all the way up to now—should suddenly change.

George E. Jennings Dies At 49

George Edward Jennings, 49, formerly a member of the Novato School District board, died of a heart attack last night at his home in Napa.

Jennings was on the school board from 1957 to 1960 and was its president for only a litle more than a month before he was transferred from his government civilian post at Hamilton Air Force Base to a job at Colorado Springs, Colo. He lived in Novato from 1955 to 1960, and settled in Napa when he returned to California later from Colorado.

Jennings was born Nov. 12, 1916, in San Diego. His father was Judge Lacy Donoho Jennings, associate justice of the Fourth District California Court of Appeals.

Jennings was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and a year later, in 1941, entered the Navy as an ensign. He served on ships in the Atlantic and Pacific during World War II and resigned from active duty as a lieutenant commander in 1947.

Foam Dress Form Simplifies Fitting

By EUNICE FARMER

I'm happy to report that the wonderful new foam plastic dress form I told you about is even better than I told you it was. I have had many letters from the lucky gals who have one, and it has eliminated all of their fitting problems.

The closely woven poplin cover is fitted on your own figure, then placed on the foam plastic base. Not only will you have your exact measurements, but your exact contour, curve by curve. The greatest part of all is the soft, flexible shoulders so, for the first time, you can try on completed garments. I'm also happy to tell you that this new product is gradually becoming available in most of the larger cities of the country. Write to me in care of the Independent-Journal if you need more information.

I bought a beautiful printed whipped cream fabric for an overblouse and lining for my new spring suit. Will this fabric be satisfactory for a lining?

MRS. G. H.

DEAR MRS. G. H.

Whipped cream fabric is very popular today because it is drip-dry. It shouldn't be pressed with a steam iron because it will cause the fabric to stretch. It is usually not underlined in dresses or blouses. I checked with a local dry cleaner about using it as a lining for a jacket and he advised against it. He said it doesn't spot too well and that the steam will cause it to stretch. If I were you, I wouldn't use it for a lining in a suit, but instead, use it where you can take advantage of the wash and drip-dry qualities.

Mrs. Grace Sandefur, Alexandria, La., wins a Tailor Trix pressing board for the following suggestion.

"Take your daughter's old dresses with the natural waistline and gathered skirts and give them the new empire look that is so popular with the girls of all ages.

"Rip the dress at the waist and recut the skirt to an A-line, or any other new style. Cut the bodice off just below the bustline and attach the skirt. It is better to work with a pattern.

"With the new length skirts, the dress will usually still be long enough even though you have set the skirt up onto the bodice at least 3 or 4 inches.

"Most women have put these dresses back in a corner of the closet for years—now is the time to take them out and revamp them for summer."

I always have trouble with set-in sleeves. If I can get all the extra material worked into the armhole without a pleat showing, the sleeve still looks too full. I've almost given up making anything with set-in sleeves. What am I doing wrong?

MRS. SYLVIA B.

DEAR MRS. SYLVIA B.:

When you put in the largest machine stitch for the cap of your sleeves, you pulled it too tight. I prefer using a smaller stitch which will allow you to ease in less fabric without a pleat. Remember, the sleeve itself must be larger than the armhole. When pinning it into the armhole, always work with the inside of the sleeve over your fingers to resemble an outer curve which in turn will resemble your shoulder. Since we don't use shoulder pads today, you need very little ease in the sleeves.

Even a professional tailor told me one time that he often spent hours setting in the sleeves, so don't be dismayed if you have to change yours once or twice for the professional effect. You will find my leaflet "All About Sleeves" very helpful because of its easy-to-follow, step-by-step instructions. Send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer, in care of the Independent-Journal and your leaflet will be sent to you.

ART AUCTION

Astonishingly Good Work At Marin Group Selection

By LAURA DEVENDORF

An auction is intended to be a bargain hunter's paradise. Tomorrow's seventh annual art auction of the Marin Society of Artists certainly will be that, but it's no white elephant sale. Far from it! This year the emphasis is on quality.

This year it will also be easier to get the work you want because of a change in auction procedure. In the past, society auctions were by silent bid alone.

At the final gong the last signature on the slip received the item and since no one could sign in two places at once, it was a frustrating, often maddening situation for bidders who wanted more than one work. This year the buyer has a better chance because there will be a simultaneous verbal auction along with the silent bidding.

From around 400 items offered, 70 strong sample works under the gavel of professional auctioneer Hal Fenton. Of these 70, some are astonishingly good and should excite the most discriminating collector. Together, they look like a competent gallery show and they reflect the level and range of the total work offered.

There are graphics, drawings and paintings in styles thant range from primitive to abstract expressionism. Many are by the area's most popular and important artists who this year, have donated better and more representative work than ever before. And happily too, there are many more works available in the sought-after larger sizes. Only crafts seem in short supply but among them are some handsome pieces of jewelry, weaving and ceramics.

There are equally good items in MSA's silent auction. There are dozens of fine watercolors and this area is best for finding those delicate paintings which should be viewed close-up for fullest enjoyment.

Marin Society of Artists regards this annual sale as a "thank you" to the public. The members want it to be a bargain and they want it to be fun. It has always been both but this year it should be even more so because of the new bidding procedure and because the standard of work is unusually high. Certainly credit is due to auction co-chairmen, Sydney and Fred Herschleb for good organizing and for generating such exciting artists' response. The results will be the art buyers' good fortune when the doors open at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Frances Young Gallery, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

'Billy Liar' Slated As High School Play

Spring drama production at Terra Linda High School will be the comedy, "Billy Liar," set for May 13 and 14 in room 802 at the school.

Those cast in lead rolls are Dave Haskell, Marilyn Phillips, Rick Laubscher, Karen Pullin, Judy Navas, Sylvia Scott, Cheryl Asselin and Doug Gower.

Children's Art

Top entries in the recent children's art show at Marshall School are on display at the main county library in the Civic Center. The show, sponsored by the Marshall Community Club, brought entries from most of the western Marin school districts.

John Reed was the first English-speaking settler in Marin County, coming here in 1826.

Federal Permits Go On Sale For Parks

YOSEMITE (UPI)—The 1966 federal recreation permit, a $7 "golden passport" to outdoor enjoyment, went on sale yesterday at federal recreation areas throughout the United States.

The $7 permit, a gold and white wallet-size card which will be good until March 31, 1967, is the basic permit issued under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 and will allow holders to visit any federal recreation area in the country.

But visitors were given four options, depending on the number of visitors in a single vehicle, the length of their stay and the particular federal facility.

A carload of visitors to Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Parks, for instance, can buy a 30-day temporary permit for $4 but a similar permit at more popular Yosemite National Park would cost $5. An individual 30-day permit cost $2 at Sequoia-Kings Canyon, but $2.50 at Yosemite.

Daily permits costing 50 cents and $1 also were available.

The annual permit will be good at all national parks and monuments, wildlife refuges, national Forest Service areas which charge fees, Corps of Engineers' recreation areas and other federal recreation areas.

Auto Master Key Regulation Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., proposed yesterday legislation to regulate the sale of automobile master keys.

He said would-be car thieves now can buy master-key sets for less than $30.

Ribicoff said the keys — which fit any car — are used by juvenile joyriders and professional automobile thieves.

Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., joined Ribicoff in sponsoring the bill which would bar the advertisement or sale of master keys "except to those with a legitimate need for them."

Clausen Defends Milk For Pupils

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ha. Clausen, R-First District, urged the House Appropriations Committee yesterday to continue funding the school lunch and school milk programs at present levels.

President Johnson's budget calls for an $82 million reduction in the school milk program and $19 million cut in school lunches.

"If we can afford billions each year to improve the lives of our friends overseas," he told the committee, "we should, and must, allocate a small percentage of that amount to assist the physical well-being of our own children."

Gualala (Gwah-lah-lah) is the Spanish rendering of the Indian phrase, "Where the Waters Meet." A tradition persists, however, that the name was derived from the Valhalla of Norse mythology.

PRISON MUSIC

Students Swamp Class Experiment

An experimental class in music at San Quentin Prison has swamped its originators with requests by prisoners to enroll.

The program was originated last month by Ronald Cole, director of the Sherman Clay School of Music, who donates his time to teach inmates the piano Monday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m.

Ed Wood, an instructor at the school, teaches guitar to the prisoners.

The two volunteer teachers use some $3,000 worth of instruments contributed by the Sherman Clay Music store, which is operated independently of the school by manager Margo Margossian.

Margossian said, "The response to the classes is so great that we could conduct classes for 100 to 300 prisoners if we had the instruments."

Margossian said there were many additional teachers at the school willing to donate time to teach "all kinds of instruments." He requested Marin residents to donate any used instruments they might have "lying around their homes." Even damaged ones, he said, could be repaired in the prison workshop.

The classes got their start because, Cole said, "At least three or four times a week, I would drive past the long, forbidding wall of the prison, and I was curious to know if any music was being brought to this small community."

Three Accused Of Gem Theft

OAKLAND (AP)—Three Bay Area men were charged yesterday with the $500,000 armed robbery of an Oakland jewelry store March 9.

The men, Eddie D. Ranier, 27, San Francisco; Joseph J. Murphy, 27, Berkeley, and Wlliam L. Taylor, 22, Oakland, were also charged with assault with a deadly weapon and kidnaping.

Police said the men terrorized a dozen jewelry store employes at gunpoint. They were arrested in Los Angeles and San Francisco this week. Bail is $23,100 each.

Chico Youth Has Dope Appearance

Robert Gordon Brien, 18, of Chico, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of sale of marijuana in Novato on March 12.

Plea entry was continued by Judge Leonard A. Thomas until April 15 and Brien was released on his own recognizance.

Brien, a companion, five juveniles and Paul Edward Deal, 25, of 330 Hyacinth Way, Terra Linda, were arrested by Novato police for investigation of possessing marijuana.

Deal, charged with possession, was bound over to Marin Superior Court March 24 following a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court.

Man Arraigned On Knife Charge

Nathaniel Valentine, 52, of Mill Valley, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of assaulting another man with a knife following a street fight early yesterday.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas continued the case until 1:30 p.m. Thursday for plea entry. Valentine, of 165 Ralston Avenue, allegedly stabbed James Eugene Riddle, 42, of 238 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, under the right arm during a tussle on the sidewalk outside Riddle's home.

Police said the fight concerned Riddle's wife, who had spent the evening with Valentine. Valentine was released on his own recognizance.

FURRY FOREMAN AND FRIENDS

The baby harbor seal at Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael watches approvingly as volunteer carpenters Joseph Fredette, Frank Wilson and Marion Harrah of Local 35 build a mezzanine office, something which has been wanted at the museum for 10 years. Materials were donated by the Indian Valley Lumber Co. and Graham Lumber Co. The new area will provide office space and a work area for the women of the museum's fund raising auxiliary.

TV REVIEW

NBC Viet Show Misses Dramatics

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If the conduct of the Viet Nam war is unique among others fought by the United States, so is the conflict unprecedented.

NBC television undertook to present the temper of the country in an hour-long color special Friday night title "Viet Nam: The Home Front."

The network, however, barely touched its subject for want of a point of view.

That is not to say it was a bad show. It was a good one, but consisted primarily of film footage of politicians, blood doners, war productions, logistics, USO shows and the like.

It lacked the punch and drama manifest in the seething array of attitudes of Americans of all factions.

More important, it did not attempt to document the reaction of civilians to a bloody and brutal war which has already claimed 2,762 American lives.

It should have highlighted the contrast between this war and both world wars or even the Korean conflict. There appears to be no national fervor about this war. Where are the slogans, the songs, the posters, the bond rallys?"

Have Americans matured to the point where they can no longer be stirred by hokey slogans — Slap The Jap — or schmaltzy songs — "Over There?"

Or is it that they are only indifferent?

These questions should have been answered to some degree on the show.

Perhaps the very grimness of the war itself has invaded homefront intellectual and emotional response.

The recent "Ballad Of The Green Berets" is the first bit of Americana to grow out of the Viet Nam war. The men who wear the green berets, Special Forces, are the first to generate a gung-ho attitude.

The best part of NBC's hour (7:30 p.m. EST) was a brief segment devoted to the proponents and opponents of the administration's policy in the conduct of the war.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, addressing an American Legion group, spoke for the administration in crystal clear terms. At one juncture he said, "A little bit of old fashioned patriotism never hurt anybody."

It was a point well taken in this day when patriots sit by quietly while a minority of protestors grab the headlines.

Speaking for administration critics was Sen. J. William Fulbright in an address to a college audience. He said that even a total American victory in Viet Nam would settle nothing.

Listening to both men speak, a viewer would be hard pressed not to choose sides, to wish to be counted in the one camp or the other. For this reason, if none other, the hour stirred the juices.

Humphrey and Fulbright articulated the basic differences between those who approve what the nation is doing and the minority who believe we are fighting in vain.

If NBC did not pin down the homefront, it at least made a valid effort. One hopes the network will be encouraged to try again.

And under any circumstances, the show was a genuine public service if for no other reason than it bumped "Hank" and "Camp Runnamuck" off the air for the night.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Most people with hives (urticaria) are healthy. Their welts are innocent, but miserable and the victim wants to know the cause when they fail to disappear. The solution is obvious when hives develop within an hour of eating shellfish or receiving an injection of tetanus antitoxin. The same might be said when giant hives develop on the hand after removing a milk bottle from the refrigerator. The victim is sensitive to cold.

Wheat, eggs, and milk are reputed to be the most common culprits in producing chronic udticaria. Foods containing molds, such as cheese or soy sauce, are definite offenders. Inhalants such as dust, wool, feathers, animal dander, and airborne molds cause hives as well as asthma and hay fever.

THE OFFENDER is more obvious when the welt follows the use of a certain drug, chemical contact, cosmetic, or insect bite. Parasitic infection and exposure to cold or sun may do the same. Dermographia is a hive-like reaction that develops when the skin is stroked or pressed with a toothpick or fingernail. Some women develop hives during menstruation.

The search must continue beyond this when hives persist and the cause is not apparent. Many unusual causes have been found, especially when the victims are completely cooperative. Drs. B. Z. Rappaport and M. M. Hoffman got this opportunity several years ago when they traced repeated attacks of hives to formaldehyde and acrolein produced from the fat of meat while cooking and from cigarets containing dydroscopic glycerin.

TEMPORARY relief can be obtained with the antihistamines or one of the steroids such as cortisone or prednisolone. These are internally or applied locally in a salve or ointment. Calcium is used occasionally and cultured muttermilk should be tried when the bowel is upset. Permanent relief depends upon eliminating or being desensitized against the cause.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request).

SPIDER VEINS

Mrs. T. G. writes: Are spiders a positive indication of cirrhosis of the liver?

REPLY

Possibly, if you refer to spider veins. These dilated vessels have been noted occasionally on the abdomen and palms in liver disorders but their presence is not conclusive evidence that cirrhosis exists. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on spider veins.

WHAT'S YOURS?

M. R. writes: What can a person allergic to wheat, rye, and corn drink in the line of alcoholic beverages?

REPLY

Beer usually is made from barley malt, rum from cane juice, and wine from grapes. In addition, there are alcoholic beverages, such as kummel, aquavit, and anise that do not contain the grains mentioned.

DANCING IS WORK

P. A. writes: Why do my legs get sore after dancing?

REPLY

Dancing, especially the samba or watusi, is strenuous exercise for those who are unaccustomed to it.

FAIRFAX CANDIDATES

Little Heat Generated At Meeting As Emphasis Aimed At City Plans

By JOHN KEARNEY

The municipal election in Fairfax will not be marked by major controversy if a meeting of the candidates in Manor School last night is any indication.

All but one of the six candidates running for the city council gave their views and answered questions before about 60 persons without any serious degree of disagreement.

As one of the candidates said at the start: "There are no issues at stake in this election—only methods."

Those present were incumbent Robert R. Souza and challengers Stanley W. Little, Frank J. Egger, Adelaide P. Wilson and Martin L. Roth. Mayor Frank L. Lawrence was not present.

City Councilman Waldemar E. Radtke, who is not a candidate, moderate at the discussion and gave each candidate five minutes to make his presentation. None used the whole time.

Souza listed improvements in Fairfax over the past two years which he said he had helped to bring about. These included the start of the master plan studies with citizen committees taking part, the remodeling of the city hall and the acquiring of the woman's club by the city.

Present and future problems, he said, would involve street improvements, more recreation and storm drainage. The city's master plan, Souza maintained, was "the greatest thing to happen to Fairfax."

Egger was in favor of the Corte Madera Flood Control project but against the Army Engineers "coming in and turning our creek into a concrete ditch." A revitalizing of the downtown area was called for not only to improve the amenities but also to bring in increased sales tax revenue.

On the routing of Highway 17 he declared: "We must tell the state that there will not be a freeway through Fairfax." It would not only damage permanently the "natural beauty" of Fairfax but lead to other repercussions.

Mrs. Wilson said she would like to see greater participation by the people of Fairfax in the affairs of the city and welcomed the citizens committees formed to discuss aspects of the master plan.

She cited as an instance of the danger of non-participation, the ordinance establishing the city administrator. This, she said, was brought about without the people being consulted and "nothing was calculated to irritate more."

She added: "I am not against a city administrator. I think his job is important but I feel the people should have been consulted."

Another criticism was against inaction on a list of re-named streets which had been given to the council by the fire department some time ago. "As far as I know, this list has been filed and nothing done about it," said Mrs. Wilson.

Roth explained he was an engineer and felt there was room for an engineer on the council.

He went on: "We are having growing pains. At the moment there are two opinions—as to whether we are a resort community or a suburb of a rapidly growing county." He declared that the problems of the suburb affect all areas of the United States.

Little was brief and to the point. He drew attention to an election address printed in a local newspaper Feb. 24 and said he had written it and stood by it.

Questions submitted in writing or from the floor ranged from the function of the city administrator to extending the city limits.

Asked what could be done to improve relations between the city council and the voters, they were unanimous in agreeing some steps should be taken.

Souza said: "The thing the public can do is come to the council meetings. If you find it inconvenient, write a letter. We answer every letter." He noted that whenever the council did something with which people disagree, meetings were crowded.

Egger said the parks and recreation commission, of which he is a member, had the same problem. He advocated informal sessions at which people could "talk about the things on their minds" and at which no notes were taken.

Greater advantage should be taken of the coffee break in the middle of council meetings, said Little. Councilmen should mix with the public a little more on these occasions and perhaps more people would be attracted to the meetings.

On the question of extending the city limits, most candidates agreed Oak Manor was ripe for annexation.

Said Mrs. Wilson: "It is a tragedy that here we have solid citizens living in Oak Manor who should be in Fairfax."

"The people there," said Little, "deserve better fire protection," and Egger countered the city must be prepared to offer more for the increased taxes the people would have to pay.

Souza said the council had been looking at annexation and had had talks with the Oak Manor Home Owners Assn. "We are making some progress but we are still talking," he said.

Lynch Asks Vigilance On Assessor Actions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Attorney General Thomas Lynch has urged district attorneys to maintain "extreme vigilance" concerning reports of irregularities in the administration of county tax assessments.

Lynch said yesterday his office and a special team of attorneys, auditors and investigators had spearheaded the investigation which led to the indictment of assessors in four counties.

CUPID RUSK HELPS TO JOIN COUPLE AGAIN

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—An Australian bride and her American husband have been reunited due to the work of a highly placed Cupid—Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk arranged for Cheryl Payne, 20, of Melbourne, Australia, to get into this country to be with her husband, Ronald Payne, 20, of Hannibal, Mo.

Payne and Cheryl met in 1963 when she was an exchange student at Montgomery City, Mo., High School. She returned to Australia.

The were married in Australia Oct. 19 but Ron was ordered to report for military service and had to return.

That left Cheryl in Australia and the immigration quota was filled until next August.

Boys Walk Away From Car After It Flies Into Pole

Two youths walked away from a spectacular crash of a sports car in which they were riding on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard Thursday after it skidded 250 feet and flew through the air to hit a telephone pole.

Driver Thomas J. Anderson, 18, of 40 Monterey Avenue, San Anselmo, told highway patrolmen he was following another car when it slowed, forcing him to try to pass it on a curve in the boulevard west of the Camp Taylor ranger station.

Policemen theorized the left wheels of the car hit soft asphalt at the side of the road. The car skidded across the road, bounded over a ditch, hit an embankment which sent it into the air for about 10 feet. A telephone pole slowed its passage, but the sports car continued through the air for another eight feet, landing on its top.

Passenger Steven R. Schafer, 19, of 72 Oak Knoll Avenue, San Anselmo, was taken to Kaiser Foundation Clinic in San Rafael for treatment of bruises.

Anderson was uninjured. Patrolmen cited him for following too closely.

Economics Meet On Peninsula

A three-day international conference on worldwide economic problems, open to Marin County high school seniors and college students, will be conducted next week in San Mateo County by United World Federalists of Northern California.

The San Francisco State College federalist chapter will be host to the April 6-8 conference at the YMCA camp at La Honda. Helping out will be student chapter members from the University of California, Stanford and other Bay Area colleges.

The conference will be held simultaneously with its counterparts in The Hague and Tokyo and has as its theme, "Shaping the World Economy."

Marincello Talk Once On Tapes, Has Vanished

Tape recordings of the Marin County Board of Supervisors' first two hearings on Marincello have been "lost"—probably not the tapes themselves, but the words on them, anyway.

Asst. Clerk Francelle Warner of the Board of Supervisors Office said that she made it a point to collect all the tapes of Marincello proceedings, even those more than a year old.

After a year, routine tapes are used again, the record being covered up by the new impression. That evidently is what happened to the tapes for the meetings of Jan. 19 and Feb. 2, 1965, when supervisors were considering planned community zoning for the development.

The loss was discovered Thursday when Maggi Gnau, working for Marincello opponents, came to the Civic Center to transcribe portions of the tapes.

Extra Special Eichler!

576 Cedarberry Lane, Lucas Valley
OFFERED AT $35,950

PLEASE be leisurely in your inspection of this delightful home. It has so many, many extra features that could easily be overlooked.

LET'S start in the family room, where a recessed ironing board has been cleverly cached in the wall for your convenience, and so you may watch your cooking or TV, while ironing. And please look down and appreciate the practically new nylon and wool wall-to-wall carpeting over the radiant heated floor.

IN the Kitchen, extra overhead line lights, over-sink light and a skylight have been added. Into the stove has been installed a "soup-warmer" or coffee maker controlled by a timer. Extra built-in shelves.

TRAVEL on to the living room and note the voluminous bookshelves and knickknack cabinets. These were also made by the engineer owner who has kept the home up in tip-top condition.

NOW we note the central (storage) hall which divides the living from the sleeping areas. Here also have been installed matching overhead cabinets above the washer and dryer—more convenience.

THE BEDROOMS (4) all have built-in shelves and formica top work desk areas plus sliding door cabinets. In the bath of the master bedroom you'll appreciate the giant size mirror and medicine cabinet that have been added. (See your hair and hemline from the back, girls).

YOU'VE spotted the delightful covered patio and the pool area. Step outside and see the minimum care, seasonal shrubbery, built-in sprinkler system and the 14x34 ft. filtered, radiant heated pool with diving board. Then there is the little garden pool with circulating pump. Flip a switch on the curving bench and you have a waterfall tinkling into the pool. Cool-making on hot summer days.

OUTSIDE storage area is alongside the east side of the home for garden and pool equipment. Pool heater and filter are in the garage.

YES, so many, many extras in this home that it IS in a class by itself, isn't it?

Now if your have the foresight he lacks, this is a bargain for you. 3-year-old hill top home with a vast view, huge wrap-around sun deck. 1100 sq. ft. includes huge living-dining room with fireplace, 2 big bedrooms, built-in G. Petaluma Gardens
Lower Financing Costs
Saves You $1,000 in Cold, Hard Cash

MONTHS AGO, when real estate loans were plentiful, we arranged for substantial financing at the then prevailing rates. Net result: because our cost of financing is less, we save $1,000 on our average home, which savings we pass on directly to you.

★ ★

OF THE 102 UNITS in Petaluma Gardens #1, 56 have been sold: 46 choice locations remain as of last Monday . . . many of them close to the 10 acre city park that we will surround on 3 sides.

★ ★

COME IN and see the full color rendering of our Swim & Recreation Club, which will be ready for use this summer . . . exclusively for Petaluma Gardens residents.

QUALITY EXTRAS THAT MAKE ALL THE DIFFERENCE . . . AT NO EXTRA COST

In our advertising, we stress our key features: Underground utilities, master TV system, swim club, full insulation and siding, wood roofs.

★ ★

BUT the following 17 features which we include AT NO EXTRA COST are just not found in homes under $20,000. Some of these features appear in much higher priced homes, but often only as options at a premium. A few of the items are touches which can be found only in expensive custom-built homes:

★ ★

Exposed aggregate walks and patio (cost more but greatly improves appearance) . . . solid wood fence panels to screen alley ways from street . . . roof vents painted to blend into wood shingle rooof . . . post top lantern near front entry . . . wood roofs of different styles and heights to avoid appearance of monotony . . . house and patio area wired for intercom and built-in music system . . . oversized Fiberglas ducts and blower to make the heating system compatible with central air-conditioning (reduces cost of future installation) . . . built-in valet in master bedroom . . . built-in chest of drawers in one bedroom (standard in all but smallest model) . . . built-in food center by NUTONE (blender included, other accessories extra) . . . built-in shower in tub (other builders offer this as a $75 extra, if at all) . . . cast iron plumbing by KOHLER (costs more but much more durable) . . . heavy safety grab bar over tub and in shower) . . . built-in, tilt-out clothes hamper under wash basin (another NUTONE feature) . . . sliding doors between entry hall and kitchen, and between master bedroom and bath (except in Willow model which has separate dressing room) . . . MASONITE siding on all exterior walls (most "low priced" homes have stucco on three sides: this finish fades rapidly and discolors at ground level) . . . and, extra deep roof overhang (greater protection from sunlight and better looking!)

BIG TEST FOR GIBBON OF GIANTS

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The world champion Los Angeles Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants opened a series today with few dramatic equals on the spring baseball exhibition circuit.

To start things out, Dodger right-hander Don Sutton celebrated his 21st birthday today trying to blow down Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Willie McCovey instead of candles on a cake.

The Giants, diligently searching for a left-handed starter, sent Joe Gibbon to the mound to face the Dodgers with Dick Estelle slated to hurl the final innings. Gibbon and Estelle are the only potential southpaw starters on the Giants' staff.

Tomorrow, the Dodgers and Giants move from Mesa to Phoenix as two potential opening game hurlers clash. Juan Marichal faces the Dodgers for the first time since last Aug. 22 while Claude Osteen pitches for the Dodgers.

The long holdout of Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale plus Osteen's performances in Florida tabbed the left-hander as the pitcher who will face Houston in Los Angeles the night of April 12 as the Dodgers open defense of their crown. Koufax and Drysdale were expected to be in uniform for the first time, but not in action today.

Marichal has not pitched against Los Angeles since his battle with Dodger catcher John Roseboro in Candlestick Park last summer. Neither wants to talk much about the episode and chances are they'll ignore each other until Marichal faces Roseboro on the playing field.

Marichal posted only a 3-4 record after his fight as the Giants wound up two games back of the Dodgers in the 1965 National League pennant race.

San Francisco looked little like a title contender yesterday as the Giants fell to Cleveland 13-3 without Mays and McCovey, who had the day off.

The Indians shelled Ron Herbel and reliever Lindy McDaniel in a 10-run fifth inning. Herbel was charged overall with 10 runs on 11 hits, and McDaniel gave up three on three.

Jim Landis doubled twice and tripled once off Herbel to lead the Cleveland attack.

Don Landrum, filling in for Mays in centerfield, tripled home two runs in the fourth for the Giants' only extra-base hit.

Don Insists: No Publicity Stunt

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Los Angeles Dodger pitching star Don Drysdale, half of the exholdout team that kept baseball on needles and pins for 32 days, said the lengthy dispute with the Dodgers "was certainly no publicity stunt."

Furthermore, said the right-handed ace, he and teammate Sandy Koufax were prepared to file suit through theiy attorneys under a so-called "anti-slavery law" if they failed to come to terms with the club.

Drysdale outlined the threatened court action yesterday as he and Koufax worked out at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles. The two were to rejoin the Dodg ers in nearby Mesa today for an exhibition game against the San Francisco Giants.

Acting as spokesman for the duo, Drysdale took time off from his pitching chores to explain the section of California labor law to which he referred.

"It's the personal services contract code. It provides that a company, such as a studio, cannot keep anyone under contract more than seven years—if it is a personal service contract.

"Even if both sides want to continue the contract, it still has to be terminated and a new one drawn up," Drysdale explained.

"This is to prevent—well, as they say—to prevent slavery."

Koufax has been under Dodger contract since 1955 and Drysdale since 1956.

Drysdale said the act had been invoked in 1944 when actress Olivia De Havilland broke her movie contract.

"This certainly was no publicity stunt—that's ridiculous. It never would have gone as long as it did if it was," he said.

Both Drysdale and Koufax said they were glad the affair was ended.

"The nice thing about it, I must say," said Drysdale, "was that throughout the entire period there was never a bitter word exchanged, not even a voice raised in our talks with Buzzie."

In Phoenix, E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodger general manager, said he was "not concerned about such a law," and that it "had no effect in my negotiations with the players.

"Everybody is content now," he concluded.

The drawn - out battle seesawed back and forth between new Dodger offers and Koufax-Drysdale refusals after the two decided to ask for a three-year, $1 million contract, to be split 50-50.

Only one day before the pair finally signed for a reported $225,000—$120,000 for Sandy and $105,000 for Don—they refused what Bavasi said would be the final offer: $112,500 for Koufax and $97,500 for Drysdale.

Celts Win Playoff; Battle 76ers Next

BOSTON (AP) — Boston turned its attention toward Philadelphia today without taking time to enjoy its comeback victory over the Cincinnati Royals in the National Basketball Assn.'s Eastern division semifinal playoff.

Victorious Coach Red Auerbach ordered a practice session, declining to give his players a day off despite the tough series with the Royals that closed last night with Boston scoring a 112-103 victory in the fifth and final game.

Meanwhile, the Los Angeles Lakers trounced the St. Louis Hawks 129-106 and took a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven Western Division final .

The Celtics swing right back into action tomorrow when they open the best-of-seven division final playoff against Philadelphia and Wilt Chamberlain on the 76ers' court.

"Sam was the key," said Auerbach as he discussed the scoring exploits of Sam Jones that brought the Celtics from an eight-point deficit in the first quarter to a second period lead they never lost.

"Sam's shooting is what did it. Sam and John Havlicek."

Jones wound up with 34 points, getting 24 in the first half to lead Boston's rally. Havlicek had 23 points, taking over the shooting chores when Jones was lifted in the second period for a rest.

Auerbach also felt Cincinnati's failures helped Boston's cause considerably.

"We didn't see a great rebounding Lucas," he said in reference to the big forward, Jerry Lucas, who played with an injured knee.

"Lucas played his usually good game on offense," Auerbach said. "In fact he made a couple of great offensive moves. But he wasn't rebounding like he can, and we were lucky Adrian Smith wasn't up to par."

Smith, the hero of the first Cincinnati victory in the series, was taken out of the final game early. Coach Jack McMahon said he lifted Smith for Tom Hawkins because he wanted to get more height.

McMahon felt the game was lost early in the fourth quarter when Boston's lead was cut, 90-84.

"Boston was missing its shots," he said. "They obviously were jittery. We had a great chance to make up the six points. But Russell made a key block on Hawkins, and Boston went down to score and that was it."

The block by defensive ace Bill Russell led to a basket by Larry Seigfried, making the score 92-84 and giving Boston a much needed lift.

Jerry West and Elgin Baylor were the big guns for the home team Lakers, who outscored the Hawks 35-15 in the final period. West scored 28 points and Baylor 22. Zelmo Beaty and Richie Guerie scored 22 each for St. Louis.

Sandy Koufax Is Not A Liar

VERNO BEACH—There are a few things to settle at the outset of this column.

The first is that the next lie Sandy Koufax tells me will be the first. Oh, I've forgotten "No Comment" out of him or no answer or the busy signal. But when he tells you something, you can take it and put it in the bank. It's so solid, it will draw interest.

THIS IS not the only thing that distinguishes Sandy in Baseball, but it's one of the things.

The second is that this is not the column I intended to bring you at this regularly scheduled time. It has been relinquished to bring you this news special.

THE ORIGINAL column dealt with the unoriginal notion that Sandy Koufax did not want to play baseball this year. Or any other. It was a notion planted in my mind by, among others, E.J. (Buzzie) Bavasi. Sandy wasn't rejecting money, went the refrain; he was rejecting the game. He didn't want to bend the curve ball over on a 3-and-2 with the world championship at stake any more. He wanted a job with a carpet on the floor, two phones in the Cadillac and a hot line to the stock market.

HE WAS turning his back on apple pie, Motherhood, the Fourth of July and the Boy Scout movement — the whole American concept. He wanted more money than Willie Mays. The club was bending every effort, but his price was put deliberately out of reason because he was sick of the monkey suit, the thunder-and-lightning flights, the distasteful publicity including the leering little stories in detestable penny-dreadful publications. Sandy was not trying to hold up Baseball; he was trying to escape it. So they said.

THE NOTION depressed me. But I bought it. I went down to the minor league dressing room here where the crew-cut kids of all hues and nationalities are bucking for too-few jobs with two-little skills. I stared up at the signs. "Be proud your a Dodger," the misspelling was sadly amusing. You don't need grammar to make Spokane: you need a hop on your fast one, a hook on your deuce ball. "Learn the signs!" "Think Baseball!" ran other extortions.

Why?

IF THE guy who made it beyond the wildest dreams of these kids says, "Baseball? who needs it?" who needs to bother with signs that say "Back up all bases!" "Hit the cutoff man!" and related tips from the top? Who needs Room At the Top if the guy who made it bailed out, who acted as if he were quitting the narcotic trade, the Mafia? Maybe it really wasn't Show Business, maybe it was just cleaning the elephant after all.

I felt so uneasy about it. So I started to phone Koufax—3,000 miles away.

"DO I WANT to leave Baseball?! Of Course, I don't!" an angry young man answered me. "But what are you to do when you don't hear from the employer for over a month? What? Maybe my phone doesn't answer. But I get my mail."

What about movie offers, TV, business?

"Jim," said Sandy Koufax, "I like to eat. But Baseball has always treated us as if we had no choice but to sign, as if it were just a dumb charade. They just made us an offer and waited for us to crawl up to it like a desert water hole."

IT WAS true. I had forcibly told the general manager only a few days before that I, as a 20th Century American, 700 years after the Magna Carta, would resent being told to get on a jet, eat 3,000 miles of crow and meekly get back in the cottonfield. A man who is as sure to get in the Hall of Fame as Willie Mays, should be given the courtesy of a beg, a person-to-person "please, Sandy?" not on "O. K., baby, get the lunch pail. It's your funeral." In Baseball, obviously, Massa's not in the cold-cold ground. Yet.

Sandy has made Baseball treat him like a free man, a human being. It's damn near time. La Scala Opera would have been burned down if they had left Caruso on that locomotive. Would Art have let Rembrandt paint houses?

THE FIRST thing you do with greatness is go get it and preserve it. Men have climbed mountains, explored sea caves, challenged the unknown for it. If it occurs even in the little world of Baseball, is it too much to go after it with your hat in your hand?

It's easy to swallow your pride if this is all you've had to eat that day. I am glad the Dodgers didn't lose Sandy Koufax. I am glad Drysdale will be on a mound, not a stage. I think the kids will really swell up with pride when they read "Be Proud Your a Dodger." I am glad Sandy Koufax will get a chance to keep his record going—his record of not telling a lie.

Cute Cal Gal Is Sierra Ski Star

By JACK SCHREIBMAN

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (AP) — The final giant slaloms of the international ski racing season took place today at the High Sierra Cup Races with attention now turning to the world championships in Portillo, Chile, in August.

Two slalom races each for men and women tomorrow will close the cup races.

Serious concern has been expressed over the Heavenly Valley race course because of high temperatures. A joke making the rounds is that the current races are the only place you can get a heat stroke and ski at the same time.

Certain to make the American team to go to Portillo is the cute, compact and powerful Wendy Allen of San Pedro, the newest rising star in world ski racing.

The 21-year-old racer blasted through 44 gates in the first women's giant slalom yesterday and won by more than three seconds over France's Annie Famose, who had been favored. Wendy's time was 1:36.85, Annie's 1:39.30.

The overall women's favorite, France's Marielle Goitschel, spun out on the course and finished fifth in 1:43.18. Third was Belgium's Patricia DuRoy DeBliquy in 1:39.33.

In the men's giant slalom, Georges Maduit of France posted 1:30.26 to shade his spectacular countryman Jean-Claude Killy by a little over half a second and win the race.

Jimmy Heuga of Tahoe City, Calif., had the third fastest time of the afternoon, 1:30.95.

The French were favored to take today's men's giant slalom as well.

Racer Hansgen Badly Injured At Le Mans

LEMANS, France (AP) — American race driver Walt Hansgen was seriously injured today during practice for the 24 hour Le Mans race when his Ford-Mark II went out of control and flipped end over end.

It took firemen about 20 minutes to chop, saw and pry Hansgen from the wreckage. Breathing but unconscious and covered with blood, Hansgen was rushed to the hospital in an ambulance.

Witnesses said they saw Hansgen's car start to skid just before a gradual turn at the end of the grandstand area. They said the car spun into an escape road and crashed against an earth embankment, which caused the car to flip over.

The seven-liter car entered by Shelby-American, Inc., was a complete wreck.

The accident happened while a soft rain was falling. Up to that time, the Le Mans veteran had chalked up the fastest time around the circuit. His time was three minutes, 50.3 seconds for an average of 130.8 miles an hour.

Lester Is Winner By A Knockout

OAKLAND (AP) — Jimmy Lester of San Francisco, the fifth-ranked World Boxing Assn. middleweight, knocked out Aristo Chavarin of Mexico Friday night in the fifth round with a left and a right to the jaw.

The scheduled 10-rounder in Oakland's Auditorium was exactly even, according to the three officials with score cards, when the 159 - pound Lester loosed his barrage.

His opponent from Los Mochis took a nine count and seconds later referee Jack Downey stopped the fight at 1:05 of the fifth round.

Downey said later the 160-pound Chavarin "hadn't recovered from the knockdown and wasn't defending himself."

The victory was Lester's 20th in 21 starts and his 15th knockout.

The same fighters met March 11 when Lester scored a unanimous decision after a five-month layoff because of a broken right hand knuckle.

Tam Netters Trip Washington High

Tamalpais High School's tennis team whipped Washington High in San Francisco yesterday, 4-1.

Weiskof Ties Sanders For First In Greensboro Golf

By REESE HART

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Young Tom Weiskopf, who hated golf until eight years ago, and short-swinging Doug Sanders were tied for the lead as the $100,000 greater Greensboro Open moved into the third round today.

Weiskopf, 23, a fledgling pro seeking his first major tournament victory, played flawless golf from tee to green yesterday as he shot a four under par 67 for a 135 total.

Sanders, who led the first round with 65, finished nearly four hours after Weiskopf and had to birdie the 17th hole to gain a tie. His 70 included three birdies and two bogies.

"I've played so damned many good rounds it's hard to keep fired up every day," Sanders said.

In third place at 136 was lanky Al Geiberger, who one-putted seven greens on his way to a 70 yesterday.

Tied for fourth at 137 were Dave Ragan, R. H. Sikes and Steve Reid. Ragan and Reid had 68s and Sikes 69.

Three strokes off the pace at 138 were defending champion Sam Snead, Howie Johnson, Terry Dill and Terry Wilcox, Julius Boros, Joe Campbell and Bery Yancey were at 139.

It took 147 to survive the cutoff with 75 players making it.

Weiskopf, who caddied a few times for Jack Nicklaus when the two were students at Ohio State, hit every green in regulation yesterday but had 34 putts. His 33-34 round included four birdies.

Weiskopf, whose parents are good golfers, said, "I hated golf until I was 15." It was while caddying that he took a liking to the game.

Weiskopf, who finished second in the San Diego Open this year, originally planned to pass up the Greensboro Open. He pulled out of the Citrus Open at Orlando, Fla., after the first round and went home to visit his parents in Bedford, Ohio.

"I was tired of playing," he said. He planned to resume play in the Texas Open later this month but changed his mind and entered the Greensboro the day before the deadline.

Marin 'Cats Knock Off Redwood

With Ben Burch hurling a four-hit shutout, the Marin Catholic Wildcats knocked off defending champ Redwood 3-0 yesterday in opening day Marin Athletic League baseball at Redwood.

It was a pitchers' duel between Burch and Redwood's Jim Garrett for six innings and then Marin Catholic scored three runs in the final inning to win it. All three runs were unearned, however, as Redwood second baseman James Capell committeed two errors in that seventh inning.

With runners on first and second and no outs, Bill Pools, a leftie, came in to relieve Garrett, with left hand batting Burch at the plate. Burch popped out to the catcher, but the next batter got on base when Capell muffed a grounder, and the bases were now loaded.

Bob Bianchini drew a walk from Poole for the first M.C. run, and the next one scored on a bunt single by Tony Quadros. Then George Foster attempted a squeeze play but Redwood catcher Steve LeBeck's glove got in the way and it was ruled interference, allowing the third run of the inning to score. Joe Adams struck out and Jerry Handlos grounded out to end the inning.

Redwood's biggest threat was in the sixth inning, when Kevin Wilson doubled and LeBeck singled. Wilson tried to score but was thrown out by centerfielder Handlos on a fine play.

Burch, throwing only 88 pitches, struck out six, and Garrett whiffed five.

San Rafael Nine Tops Drake, 3-1

San Rafael High School's Bulldogs, behind the steady pitching of Joe Cunningham, opened the Marin Athletic League baseball slate with a 3-1 triumph over Drake High yesterday in San Anselmo.

Sam Crowell hit a sacrifice fly to score Jim Magliluo in San Rafael's fourth inning to tie the score at 1-1, and then the Bulldogs scored again in the fifth, with Magliluo knocking in the run with a single. San Rafael put icing on the victory cake in the top of the seventh when Paul Shelley hit a sacrifice fly to knock home Rick Schau who had singled.

Don Alvarado, Drake's catcher, scored his team's lone run in the second inning, denting the plate after a San Rafael throwing error.

Cunningham allowed four hits in going the distance for the win. Drake's Bob Tobin was stung with the loss. In addition to his sacrifice fly, Shelly rapped two singles for San Rafael. The Bulldogs helped Cunningham by making two double plays.

Novato '9' Upset By Analy, 5-4

Analy High School Tigers of Sebastopol upset Novato's Hornets 5-4 in a practice baseball game at Novato yesterday. It was only Novato's second loss in nine games.

One highlight for Novato was a home run in the fifth inning by John Dolinsek.

Losing pitcher was Everett Fritz.

Terra Linda Wallops Tam By 8-1

Terra Linda High School's baseball team had an easy time of it yesterday, thumping the Tamalpais Indians 8-1 in a Marin Athletic League opener at San Rafael's Albert Field.

The Trojans jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning, with Terry Johnson supplying a key blow, a double to knock in a run. Pitcher Ed Beckley, who went the distance and scattered five hits, helped his own cause with a two-run single in the fourth inning.

Terra Linda blew the game wide open in the bottom of the sixth inning, scoring four runs. Fred Daniele, the Trojans' shortstop, smashed a bases loaded triple and then scored on a wild pitch to account for all four runs. In addition to his triple, Daniele had two singles, both infield, on hoppers in the hole that were knocked down by Tam shortstop Mike Biber.

Beckley, one of the top hurlers in the league, whiffed 11 batters and didn't walk any. It was the opposite for Tam Pitcher Ron Gilliam who walked seven and threw two wild pitches. He fanned five.

SPRING EXHIBITION ROUNDUP

A's Pitchers Chalk Up A No-Hitter

By VITO STELLINO
upi sports Writer

The beleaguered Kansas City Athletics gave their celebrated mule—Charley O—something to hee-haw about last night.

The hapless A's, owners of the major league's worst pitching staff last year with a 4.24 earned run average, came up with a no-hit, no-run game against the Houston Astros. On April Fool's Day, no less.

The A's weren't foolin' this time, however. Flashy rookie Paul Lindblad and veteran reliefer John Wyatt combined to pitch the no-hitter as they stymied the Astros on just three walks while chalking up a 4-0 victory.

It enabled the players to take the spotlight away from owner Charley Finley's controversial mule—and that's something they enjoy doing.

There have been reports out of the A's spring training camp that the players are understandably annoyed with their "mule image" and all the jokes about it the last few years.

But the A's, who are 10-10 this spring, were nothing to laugh at against the Astros as they came up with the second no-hitter of the spring. Bob Veale and Luke Walker of Pittsburgh no-hit the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-0, last Monday.

It was no contest as the No. 1 National League spring team (the New York Mets) met the No. 1 American League spring club (the Chicago White Sox). The Mets' Rod Gardner, a rookie lefthander who's been sensational this spring, pitched six innings of one-hit ball as the Mets chalked up a 4-1 win.

The second-place clubs in each league also clashed and again it went to the National League as the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Detroit Tigers, 7-6.

Frank Robinson hit his seventh homer of the spring but it wasn't enough for the Baltimore Orioles as they dropped their fifth straight game, a 7-5 setback at the hands of the Philadelphia Phils.

Zoilo Versalles, the American League's most valuable player last year, hit a three-run homer in the sixth inning that led the Minnesota Twins to a 10-6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for four runs in the 11th inning off Hal Reniff to whip the New York Yankees, 7-3. Carl Yastrzemski drove in four runs with a homer and double to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 7-1 victory over Atlanta.

Norm Seibern hit a two-run homer and Willie Smith a solo homer as the California Angels whitewashed the Chicago Cubs, 5-0, and the Cleveland Indians exploded for 10 runs in the fifth inning to crush the San Francisco Giants, 13-3.

Bulldogs Win Every Event From Redwood

San Rafael High's swim team took every first place en route to dumping the Redwood Giants in the Bulldog pool, 74-20, yesterday in Marin Athletic League action.

Bill Cannedy won both the 100 and 400 freestyle events for the Bulldogs while Jim Allen swam to victory in the 200 free and the 50 fly in the two teams' opening league meet. Cannedy took the 100 free in 57.6 seconds and navigated the 400 free in 4:51.2; and Allen registered 2:00.3 in the 200 free and 23.9 in the butterfly.

San Rafael's 200 medley relay combo of Marshall Gaustad, Jim Morris, Jim Edwards and Tom Oleari took the event with an impressive 1:54.0 clocking.

The Giants Class B squad edged San Rafael's Bees, 45-41, despite two first racked up by Bullpup Dave Topance who copped the 100 individual medley in 1:07.0 and the 100 breast, 1:12.1.

Trojans Splash To Triumph Over Drake

Terra Linda High School's swim squad opened its Marin Athletic League slate on a victorious note, dunking Drake's mermen yesterday in the Pirates' pool, 50½-44½, but Pirate John Skaer smashed his own school record in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:06.5.

Skaer's previous best in that event, turned in two weeks ago, was 1:07.0.

The Pirates won 6 of the 11 events on the agenda, but the Trojans, who were ahead by just one point going into the last two events, had too much depth for the Drake splashers.

Opening lead — ◇ J

South took the ace of diamonds, drew trumps, and led out two high clubs.

When suit failed to break, South tried the heart finesse.

SOUTH SADDENED

West won with the king of hearts and returned the ten of diamonds. South had to lose a club trick at the end. Down one.

South complained that there was no justice.

The chance of a normal club break was better than 2 to 1, and with the additional chance of a heart finesse the odds had been more than 5 to 1 in his favor.

NO COMPLAINT

South had no right to complain about justice. The slam was unbeatable if he played the hand correctly.

After taking the ace of diamonds, South should lead a trump to dummy to ruff a diamond and should lead another trump to dummy to ruff the queen of diamonds.

South next draws the last trump.

Declarer then leads a club to the king, cashes the ace of hearts and gives up a heart, not caring which opponent wins the trick.

West returns a red card, dummy ruffs, and South discards a club. If East held the king of hearts he would return the ten of clubs. South would let this ride around to the queen, discovering the bad break.

He would then be in position to return a club for a finesse through East.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 2 notrump.

Make the negative response first despite your strong trump support and good distribution.

You can suggest a slam later on without deceiving you partner.

Eskimos Make Use Of Every Little Bit

BAMBELL, Alaska (UPI) — Eskimos in this St. Lawrence Island community boast they never waste any part of the animals they catch.

They use the casings of seal intestines for rainproof parkas, bones for kayak frames, tusks for carving. Now they have even found a market for walrus whiskers. They are used as toothpicks at gourmet dinners.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, April 2, the 92nd day of 1966 with 273 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase; the morning star is Venus; the evening star is Jupiter.

French novelist Emile Zola was born on this day in 1840.

On this day in history:

In 1792, Congress authorized a mint of the United States to coin money.

In 1866, President Andrew Johnson signed a proclamation declaring an end to what he termed the insurrection of 10 southern states during the Cvil War years.

In 1917, President Woodrow Wilson asked Congress to declare war on Germany.

In 1954, the International Longshoremen's Union called off a 29-day strike along New York City's waterfront.

A Thought for the Day — President Woodrow Wilson said: "The highest and best form of efficiency is the spontaneous cooperation of a free people."

Dope Problem In Marin; Catch The Masterminds

UNTIL RECENTLY, the narcotics problem was to most of us in Marin much like the "Negro problem" in that it didn't seem to affect us directly.

Most of us thought dope was a problem confined to crowded slums and the metropolitan underworld. Outside of a few Bohemian experimenters in Sausalito, it didn't involve many of us here in Marin.

This paralleled the old attitude of many of us toward the problems of race relations; outside of some Negroes in Marin City, Marin wasn't much involved in the so-called race revolution, we thought.

Slowly and painfully many of us came to see that we were wrong about our race relations responsibilities and involvement. Not to be involved was to be in the company of the opposition to improvements in race relations.

NOW THE PROBLEM of narcotics, too, has brought itself "home" to us here in Marin in a most sensitive area. Increasing numbers of our teen-age young people are being apprehended as users of marijuana.

Many insist that marijuana is no more harmful than alcoholic liquors and actually, like alcohol, can be used beneficially.

Even those who hold this point of view must agree that intoxication is hardly healthy for youth and that "playing" with liquor and/or narcotics for "kicks" is akin to playing with dynamite.

The benefits, if any, can in no wise balance the hazards.

HOW, THEN, DO WE GO about dealing with the situation?

To date our law enforcement authorities have, quite properly, apprehended the youthful users of narcotics. And our police have made efforts with some success to apprehend "pushers" who supply illegal drugs to users.

But this tends to deal with "results" instead of "causes" of the trouble.

In the words of the dean of the University of California School of Criminology, young people (and others) who turn to the use of narcotics do so to solve some problems relating to their quest for "the better life."

THE USE OF NARCOTICS among us, then, means that our society is "sick."

In the slum areas of big cities this is understandable. Poverty, ignorance, filth, and discrimination against minorities who inhabit slums add up to sicknesses in our society.

The war on poverty and the race revolution will ultimately, we hope, tend to shrink slums, reduce poverty, combat ignorance, clean up filth and end racial discrimination.

BUT WHAT ABOUT our Marin young people who are not the products of slums, poverty, ignorance, filth and discrimination?

With our affluence has come revolt against what might be called morality.

We teach our young people to question everything they see, hear and read. This is the way, we tell them, that they can learn to tell the difference between what is true and what is false.

Having done a good job of instilling this questioning attitude, we tell them, "Beware of the use of marijuana."

They question our warning. They find among us some who say, "Marijuana isn't really as bad as it's painted. Actually, it can be utilized for beneficial purposes (like alcoholic beverages)."

Some of our young people wind up questioning our warning by going a step further; they try marijuana.

HOW DO WE DEAL with this?

The answer seems to be that we really don't know yet.

The development of questioning attitudes among our youth is good. We cannot and do not want to return to the "do as you're told and don't ask questions" era.

But somewhere along the line we must impress upon our young people that right or wrong still exist and that use of narcotics "for kicks" is plainly wrong.

Further, we must be prepared to explain why, convincingly.

THE REAL OFFENDER in narcotics violations is the mastermind behind the traffic. He is the principal profiteer. He is the villain. When you get him, you get at one of the main roots of the problem.

Our local police must of course continue to apprehend local users and local small-time peddlers.

But some agency with far more resources—state or federal, or both — must go after the mastermind who arranges for the mass purchases abroad, for mass smuggling, and for mass distribution in the U.S.A.

Get the mastermind and his organization on top. That is the most important job of law enforcement. It isn't something our local agencies can do, although they can be of help and assistance.

THE OTHER BIG JOB, curing the illnesses of our society that cause people to turn to narcotics in pursuit of "the better life," is NOT a law enforcement function, at all.

Like many another of society's illnesses, the one involving the difference between right and wrong unquestionably begins in the home. All too often, parents leave it to the schools. Quite properly, schools are wary of embarking on moral training and instruction programs (although in the days of McGuffey's reader, that was a principal part of every day pupils' training).

Too few parents regard it as their primary responsibility to teach their children the difference between right and wrong. Almost no public schools at all take the responsibility for teaching morality to pupils.

Even if parents do accept the responsibility, they aren't sure how to proceed effectively.

We don't really know yet exactly how to deal with this problem in present day surroundings. The problem is becoming more acute. Time is running out.

Perhaps Dr. Spock will one day cease putting all his energy into criticizing the government's effort in Viet Nam and turn his attention to the problems of teaching morality to the young.

When this happens and a thousand more experts do likewise, perhaps we shall begin to find a solution.

Meanwhile, the most effective thing we can do is launch a massive effort to combat trafficking in illegal narcotics: go after the masterminds.

Hymn To Spring

Birds are singing in the newly-flowering trees. Fruit blossom petals drift slowly to earth. An afternoon zephyr stirs the purple, freshly unfolded leaves of the roses. Two cabbage butterflies flutter circles around each other as they rise and fall in their flight to the neighboring orchard. Blue eye of periwinkles peek out from the ground cover on the bank.

The air smells loamy with the fragrance of the good earth, the freshly cut grass, and the blossoming trees. Spring in Marin—a grand time to be alive.

Foster Home Parents Not Properly Paid?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There exists an unjust situation in the social service and child care program in Marin County and perhaps throughout the State of California. The pawn in the situation is the newborn or unwanted child dealt with by the foster parents program. The foster parent program is administered by the social service and child care department or agency. This agency also handles the adoptions of these children.

The Social Service Department in Marin County consists of 20 persons, not including receptionists and clerks, whose salaries range from $485 to $1,350 per month.

The program would not be complete without the much-needed foster homes. The newborn infants, incidentally, remain in the hospital until placed in foster homes at a cost of $20 a day, a minimum of several days and this is for the infant care exclusively.

After considerable study of the foster home program, it appears that the foster home parents are the only ones involved who are donating their services. They are the recipients of a grant amounting to $84 a month per child for food, clothes and physical equipment in child-safe, fire-inspected homes. The 24-hour care needed by these infants, plus the much needed home environment, is unrewarded materially; however, they do receive considerable praise from the well-paid Social Services Workers for the very good reason that the foster home program would be non-existent without the foster parents.

The reasoning offered by the Social Service for the lack of material remuneration is the possibility that the program would attract mercenaries as foster parents. By the same token, does this imply that the Social Service Worker is a mercenary?

The $84 grant is established by John Wedemeyer of the State Social Welfare Department in Sacramento. But is it not the responsibility of the county to supplement this amount to show gratitude to these families who share their homes and devote their time for a fine cause?

Who Desires Chiang Kai-Shek?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The current discussions about the admission of Red China to the United Nations touch upon a matter of great concern to our democratic tradition: the participation of people in the choice and variety of their leaders.

Given the facts, it is hard to imagine that the American people would desire friendship and participation with a government whose leader has been in office for 18 consecutive years, and who has recently been "elected" to another six-year term by the vote of a rubber-stamp assembly, without a single dissenting vote.

I refer, of course, to Chiang Kai-Shek and what is described in Aesopian language as Nationalist China.

Local Initiative Declared Preferable

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In the April issue of Readers Digest it tells about the small town of Hopedale, Ill., whose population (about 800) was unable to support a doctor. They were told that a hospital was needed. They had none. That was some 10 years ago. Today they have a two million dollar hospital facility of which every cent was raised by the citizens of Hopedale and the farmers. Not a penny was asked for nor received from the federal or state government, nor from any foundation or industry.

Recently, I read an article on Pureto Rico, describing how they have, within the past two decades, under "Operation Bootstrap" brought their economy, health and education standards to the second highest in that continent. While they had some help to begin with from U. S. their remarkable progress was the result of the people's willingness to do for themselves . . . without depending upon a paternalistic government.

. . . When it comes to local problems that are purely local, that community is far better off to solve the problem with their own resources than to run hat-in-hand to Washington or Sacramento begging for help every time they are confronted with the problem of hospitals, schools, recreation, etc. And the kind of help they get, invariably, is much more costly, inefficient, wasteful and impractical, than if it were provided at the local level and supervised and administered by local people.

The proposition boils down to each individual's thinking and dedication. Either we seek opportunity, and not security. Either we refuse to trade incentive for a hand-out. Either we shun the thought of being a kept citizen by having the state look after us; either we prefer the challenges of life to a "cradle to grave" existence; either we stand for these things, or we don't. If we don't then our loss of freedom, rights and dignity of mankind will be nothing but a historic dream.

State Fair Exhibit Embarrasses Marin

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Last summer we attended the California State Fair in Sacramento and were thrilled by many of the county exhibits. We were with friends from other counties and were actually embarrassed and very disappointed by beautiful Marin County's exhibit.

It looked like a store window display made by an inexperienced Brownie troop. The subject matter was good, but the way it was presented was lamentable. It was the darkest, dreariest, and most unappealing exhibit in the County Building.

We hope that whoever is responsible for the 1966 exhibit will use more imagination and intelligence. Or, is it money and what can we do about it?

Maybe It's The Time Of Year; Everyone's Peeved At Someone

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is a very peevish period everywhere although, come to think of it, there was hardly a period that wasn't.

President Johnson has peeves, consumers are peeved, labor has peeves, Democrats and Republicans are peeved at each other, members of NATO are peeved, some Vietnamese are peeved.

The Wall Street Journal after a survey found consumers across the nation peeved at rising prices.

THIS COULDN'T help but peeve Johnson who wants prices held down steady. It's obvious some elements of business are ignoring him.

Labor is peeved at Johnson for insisting wage increases should not go up more than 3.2 per cent, although business profits are soaring.

With prices rising, living costs are going up, and Johnson, fearing inflation, is peeved at the thought of it.

So he has indicated he may ask Congress as an anti-inflation measure to boost taxes on individual and corporate income. This would probably peeve most people.

Living costs have gone up 2.5 per cent in a year. If Johnson asks for a tax increase in the midst of the Vietnamese war, he'll be only repeating what President Harry S. Truman did in the midst of the Korean War.

The Korean War started in June, 1950. That year Truman got Congress to increase income taxes on individuals and corporations and Congress repeated the dose in 1951 although living costs between June 1950 and Jan. 1, 1953 went up anyway. They rose about 13 per cent.

JOHNSON and members of NATO are peeved at French President Charles De Gaulle for endangering NATO by saying he wants all its forces out of France by April 1, 1967.

The Red Chinese are peeved at their big Communist neighbor, Russia, accuse it of lining up with the United States against China, and call the Russians a bunch of "dirty dealers."

In Congress, House Democrats and Republicans got peeved at each other over inflation after it was announced living costs had gone up again in February while Johnson was asking money to subsidize rent for the poor and at the same time was thinking of a tax boost to prevent inflation.

Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, Republican House leader, said those who voted for the rent subsidy were in effect voting for a tax increase and more inflation.

THE HOUSE Democrats' leader, Carl Albert of Oklahoma, blasted the Republicans for being "blind for 35 years" and refusing to change. They weren't the only ones among Democrats and Republicans who had something to say.

In South Viet Nam, which this country is defending at the cost of American lives and billions of dollars against the Viet Cong and communism, some of the people are peeved at seeing their country run by their army officers.

And some seem very peeved at the Americans for being there at all.

For three weeks they have demonstrated, demanding civilian rule.

And Wednesday when a vehicle loaded with U.S. Marines collided with a bus loaded with members of a Vietnamese union, about 2,000 Vietnamese put on an anti-American demonstration.

JEERING demonstrators carried placards saying "Down with the Americans" all of which, of course, peeves Americans even though they don't say so officially.

No Labor Shortage Among Negro Ranks

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG

A RECENT announcement from the Department of Labor stated that the unemployment rate has dropped to 3.7, the lowest figure since 1953. This would be heartening news if the figure implied that all groups of American workers shared in the expanding job opportunities, but that is not the case. For Negro workers, the rate is nearly double—7 per cent.

Back in May, 1961, 7 per cent was the rate for the nation, and Washington, calling it a disaster figure, initiated steps to get the economy moving to reduce unemployment. If massive federal action was called for then, it is certainly called for now, to bring Negro workers back into the economy on the same basis as white workers.

I FEAR that this need is not realized as widely as it should be. When the 3.7 figure was announced, it was accompanied by many statements by economic commentators who said that such a low figure is "inflationary" and that it signalled a "labor shortage."

I have a good deal more confidence in our economy than to believe that continued prosperity rests on the existence of a large pool of unemployed. If our affluent society is based on the misery of a minority then it does not deserve its wealth.

DISCRIMINATION and prejudice have locked many of our Negro citizens into unskilled, low-paying jobs, the very jobs most likely to be automated out of existence. When Negroes have been able to break through the barriers and get white-collar jobs, they are often relegated to the lower end of the corporate totem pole. Even education is not a guarantee of success.

Negro college graduates' median income is about that of whites with 8th grade educations. The unemployment rates for Negro high school graduates under 24 years old is more than twice that for white graduates and roughly equal to that of Negro dropouts. And even these figures look rosy beside those of selected ghetto areas.

A recent study of South Los Angeles, an area which includes Watts, documents the extent to which the Negro has been left out of the current economic boom. In that section, the unemployment rate in the recession year of 1960 was 11.3. In 1965, after the most prolonged period of economic expansion in our nation's history, the rate had declined to only 10.1—meaning that one in 10 persons in that section are unemployed.

THIS IS NOT merely a problem which afflicts minority groups—it has meaning for the future of our nation. The President has warned that unless we fully utilize these "underemployed and unemployed" people, there will be shortages of labor which will slow economic expansion, threaten the economy, and create inflationary pressures. It is ridiculous to pay this price for continuation of discriminatory practices.

What is needed is a massive effort by government and private industry to hire workers and then train them in the skills needed for today's industry. The demands for skilled workers today is enormous. When last faced with this situation, during World War II, such a massive effort resulted in people considered "unemployable" taking their places on the assembly lines and producing for the war effort.

TODAY THEY can produce for our rapidly expanding economy. Our Negro citizens are still in an economic state of recession. If common decency and fair play are not reason enough for bringing them into full participation in the mainstream of American life, then our continued prosperity certainly is.

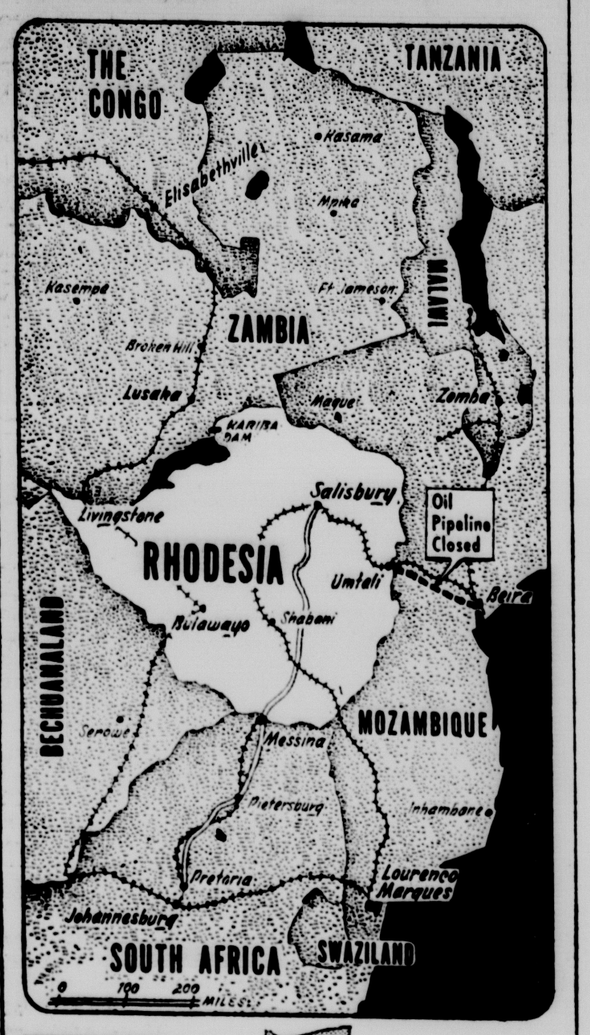
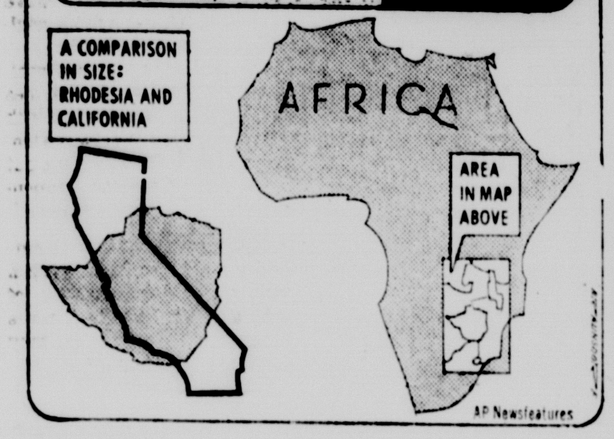
RHODESIA: Leaks in the Blockade

Britain has tried to cut Rhodesia off from world trade, to force the white government out of power. But five months later, Rhodesia carries on, finding many holes through the blockade curtain





Rhodesia Holding Against Britain's Economic Warfare

Land-Locked African Nation Still Lives On Its Wealth

By RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Economic warfare is seldom dramatic, and seldom decisive, but it can arouse violent passions.

The tighter Britain turns the economic screws on Rhodesia, the more Rhodesia determines never to succumb.

The warfare began last Nov. 11, the day Prime Minister Ian Smith declared Rhodesia independent of Britain. Rhodesia is the size of California, a landlocked country in the heart of Africa, with 4 million black Africans and 225,000 whites. The whites developed the country and rule it, and that is the rock upon which the union with Britain foundered. Prime Minister Smith's government refused to provide for eventual rule by the blacks.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain vowed to bring Rhodesia to its knees, by economic ostracism. He froze Rhodesian bank accounts in England, prohibited trade, and cut off oil shipments. But Rhodesia did not fail.

Rhodesia is a rich country, in minerals, in agriculture, in trade. But it has no petroleum. Its crude oil came in by pipeline from Beira, in Portuguese Mozambique, a 186-mile haul to Umtali, site of Rhodesia's only refinery. The British believed it could strangle Rhodesia by plane and warship patrol off Beira, frightening tankers away.

But oil is still pouring into Rhodesia. Not by the pipeline, but by truck, railroad tank car, drum and jerry can. Most of it comes from South Africa, a spontaneous outpouring from white friends. The South African government, and the big oil companies, are not officially involved.

The oil companies have pledged to Britain that they will not increase shipments to South Africa above normal. But Rhodesia needs only 1 per cent of South Africa's supplies, and that can be siphoned off easily enough without damage to South Africa's needs. Enough oil is getting through to keep Rhodesia out of serious trouble.

Banking and trade curbs are also of questionable value. Rhodesia is busily mining its gold and sitting on it, waiting for the day it can be exported (and with strong expectations that the value of gold will continue to rise.) Its frozen bank assets are freely accepted in some trade quarters as collateral for current loans. Its sugar is being bartered for wheat.

Tobacco is Rhodesia's most important export, accounting for $100 million in trade annually. This year the annual auctions, now underway, are being held in secret. Britain is normally the largest buyer for the fine Virginia leaf. Reports are that France will be a big buyer this year, and even some British interests, buying through foreign subsidiaries.

That leaves food, but Rhodesia is eating well. It grows most of its own food, though for a while there was a shortage of corn flakes. A Rhodesian firm is now putting out something called "Crunchies." And there is so much Scotch in stock that a price war is on.

An embargo is a two-edged weapon. Zambia, to the north of Rhodesia and also landlocked, is the world's largest exporter of copper. The copper used to move to the coast by railroad, through Rhodesia, but Rhodesia closed off that traffic. This comes at a time of world copper shortage and rising prices. Zambia needs the copper income, and it also needs Rhodesian coal, electric power, food and oil.

Prime Minister Smith has declared that Rhodesia is prepared to negotiate, but not from weakness, and still pays allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II. If economic warfare fails, the next move will be Britain's.

Gov. Brown Tells Why He's Running

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Gov. Edmund G. Brown is trying to become the only Democrat in history elected to three terms as California governor. He discussed the campaign, the party and the future in an hour-long exclusive interview with UPI's California political editor.)

By DeVAN L. SHUMWAY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has disclosed that he seriously considered not running for a third term but the threat of a leadership gap quickly changed his mind.

"I felt I'd like to do something else," Brown told UPI in a wide-ranging, hour-long interview.

The Democratic governor discussed his party's future, the coming campaign and his view of Republican candidates.

He was asked to comment on rumors that he was a reluctant candidate for a third term — and wanted instead to serve on the U. S. Supreme Court.

Brown said he told the state's Democratic congressional delegation last year that he was considering retiring after his second term.

"It is their unanimous opinion that state Controller Alan Cranston, Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson and Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh or others could not be elected," he said. "I had to run and they would support me."

The governor indicated that his decision was influenced to some degree by the prospect of a Republican governor — either Ronald Reagan, George Christopher, or Warren Dorn.

"When I thought of Reagan, Christopher, or even Dorn becoming governor of California, I really felt that they would do harm," he said.

He conceded he would like to serve on the Supreme Court.

"I think any lawyer would," Brown said. "But I haven't the slightest reason to believe I would ever be appointed."

For the present he intends to run hard for a third term.

"Once I get into it, there's no retreat," he pledged.

Brown gave his frank assessment of the two leading Republican candidates:

Reagan — "I think Reagan is a reactionary. He has a fear of government that could be dangerous in a growing state like California. He doesn't have the slightest idea what he's talking about."

Christopher — "He did San Francisco harm by failing to give leadership to the tough, hard problems that an executive has to meet." He described Christopher as a "two-time loser" in his unsuccessful campaigns for U. S. senator and lieutenant governor.

The governor said he had never felt Reagan, leading in the polls for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, was a "cinch" to win the June 7 primary.

"I, better than any handlers, realize you have to know what you're talking about," Brown said. "Your ignorance will come out. Even a man like (former vice president) Dick Nixon was not able to hide the fact that he was ignorant of California problems."

Brown defeated Nixon by 300,000 votes in 1962 to win his second term.

The governor also discussed his off-and-on feud with Unruh, who announced a week ago that he would run for re-election to the Assembly and try for another term as its speaker.

"I thought he would support me," Brown said of Unruh's announcement that he would take no position in Brown's primary race against Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty.

But he said the Assembly leader had been trying to establish a third force during recent years within California's political structure — "He tried to build a legislative party."

"For 16 years I've kept this Democratic Party together," Brown said. "The only real attack has come from Jesse Unruh. I refused to name him coadjutor bishop."

As to Yorty, Brown minced no words.

"I think Yorty's entrance in the governor race is born out of his hatred — not for me — but for his inability to move into the Democratic Party. He's like a kid other kids won't play with, so he picks up his game and goes home."

Brown also discussed the heated race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor among Anderson; Lloyd Hand, former U. S. protocol chief, and Thomas W. Braden, president of the state Board of Education.

He was asked if he played any role in encouraging Hand to enter the race.

"None whatsoever," he replied, "any more than with Tom Braden."

Braden is saying Brown encouraged him to run.

The governor said that Braden, Hand and Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn had discussed with him separately a possible decision by Anderson not to run for a third term.

"They felt the Watts riot had so badly weakened his position that he would get out," Brown said. The McCone Report on the August riot said Anderson hesitated when he should have acted to mobilize the state National Guard.

"I think the wish was the father of the thought," Brown said of persistent rumors that he encouraged Hand and Braden to enter the race. But the governor added that he did not "dissuade anyone" although he has announced his support for Anderson.

What accomplishments does Brown hope to achieve in his third term if he wins?

"I would like to have major tax reform and equalize the tax burden of the people of California. This is the major thing that must be done. Some are paying far too many taxes; others too few."

After he leaves the governorship, has he a choice for a successor?

"No. I haven't. He will have to emerge. I think that's a problem in our party — and also in the Republican Party, which has its poorest crop of candidates in the last 27 years."

A Weekly Page Of Background Information

Independent-Journal, Sat., April 2, 1966 31

THIS WEEK In The World

By U.P. International

In the crucible of war, human flesh is often transmuted into steel.

And boys who only lately strolled through high school corridors, thinking perhaps of football games and girls and hot rods, perform miracles of courage.

This week in Viet Nam 19-year-old Alvin Lapoint of Greeneville, N.H., became a living Marine legend when he charged up to the muzzle of a Communist cannon armed only with a bayonet and a grenade which later turned out to be a dud.

With the cannon looking right down his throat, Lapoint moved steadily forward in a hail of enemy bullets and grenades.

"I thought for a minute he was already dead," a Marine sergeant said later. "They had the gun trained right on him. I knew he was dead, and he was running while he was dead, but he kept going and kept going and kept going."

When Lapoint got close to the enemy position he made a flying leap right on top of the gun itself, burning his stomach in the process.

He bayoneted one Viet Cong and when another fled into a hole, Lapoint leaped after him and stabbed him also.

"Lapoint tried to get the gun back on the mount and train it on the Viet Cong," the sergeant continued. "He saved my whole squad's lives. He's one of the best fighting me in the world."

Lapoint, barely out of high school, was a lot more calm about his fantastic exploit.

Asked why he attacked the position himself, he replied:

"Well, I couldn't go back. They would have got me. So I moved forward to get them before they got everyone else."

Around The World; Around The Clock

Saigon: U.S. cavalrymen, reinforced by helicopters and fighter-bombers broke out of Communist encirclement at Chu Pong Mountain and drove a large force of North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong toward the Cambodian border. Terrorists machine-gunned three U.S. MPs to death and shattered a U.S. officers' billet with dynamite. Buddhists continued their anti-government, anti-American demonstrations.

Moscow: The 23rd Soviet party congress opened in Moscow with Communist China conspicuous by its obsence. Soviet party boss Leonid Brezhnev opened the sessions with a token plea to Red China for Communist unity.

London: The British Labor party won a landslide election triumph, increasing its parliamentary majority from three to at least 125.

Washington: Locomotive firemen struck eight major railroads in a new outbreak of the seven-year battle over "featherbedding." The strike hit 38 states and halted more than 12 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

New York: Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi paid a six-day visit to the United States during which she held discussions with President Johnson on Indian-American problems.

Harness Racing Success Seen Next Session

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee, R-Salinas, said he believes 1967 will be the magic year for getting approval of a bill to legalize night harness racing in California.

Pattee authored such a bill in 1965 but it never got off the ground. He had considered putting in such a bill during the current special session but decided to withhold action until the regular session in 1967.

The California tax study committee estimated that, if night harness racing were permitted in California in the same ratio to thoroughbred racing as it is in New York — the only other state with night harness racing — it could produce about $32 million a year in new revenue.

"I'm quite optimistic about the chances next year," Pattee said. "And there are several reasons. First off, the thoroughbred people who were opposed all along now feel that a shifting of harness racing to nights would leave open the daytime now used for harness racing. This could make more time available for thoroughbred racing.

"Secondly, the bill generally has had troubles in the state senate," he said, "but most of the assemblymen running for the senate — and there are more than 20 — are in favor of night harness racing. This could improve the chances in the upper house.

"The other reason is that Gov. Pat Brown apparently is going to saddle the state with a need for $320 million in new taxes in 1967 and we're going to have to come up with the money," Pattee said. "Night harness racing could help close the gap."

Gov. Brown has indicated his former flat opposition to any more racing in California at any time might be softening. At one time he said he would oppose any addition — going so far as to say that, if the new state fair thought it would finance its operations on additional horse racing, it should have another thought. In 1961, the governor vetoed a complex bill which generally would have permitted more racing days in the state.

Least in priority in his opposition, Brown said, was the mere adding of more days of daytime racing.

Congress Unmoved By LBJ's Plea For Redwoods Action

Appropriations Committee Nips Land Acquisition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress, apparently unmoved by a plea for swift action from President Johnson, is moving unhurriedly toward creation of a national park to preserve more of California's majestic 2,000-year-old redwood trees.

Legislation to create a redwood national park in Northern California is not expected to reach the House floor for a vote and it is not certain that hearings will even be held.

This was made even more apparent this week when the House Appropriations Committee refused to approve a $10 million budget request for land acquisition for the proposed park.

This does not mean the committee does not disapprove of the park, but the action is in keeping with committee policy not to appropriate funds for purposes not yet authorized by Congress.

The President recommended last month that the park, the most costly ever proposed, be created quickly despite efforts to trim the domestic budget to help meet the costs of the war in Viet Nam.

"This will be costly," Johnson told Congress. "But it is my recommendation that we move swiftly to save an area of immense significance before it is too late."

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall also has repeatedly urged speedy action. He says the park bill is in a race with the loggers' chain saw.

"If we don't get the park this year or next, it's probably too late," he said at a recent news conference.

The secretary expressed a similar view before a House appropriations subcommittee in urging approval of the President's advance budget request for $10 million for the proposed park.

"This project is so urgent if Congress does not act, in my judgement, in the next 18 months, we might as well abandon the project because the chain saws are cutting," he said.

But neither Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of the House Interior Committee, nor Sen. Harry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, is pressing for speedy action on legislation to create the park.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who asked both lawmakers for action on the measure, got little encouragement.

Aspinall told the governor there was a chance for an exploratory field hearing in California but gave no indication of further action. Another committee source told a reporter there was little or no chance of the committee clearing legislation for a vote in the house.

Jackson told Brown that his committee might hold hearings but indicated some reluctance to proceed unless there was a chance of house action.

The Washington Democrat also indicated that any hearing on redwoods legislation would await the return of ailing Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., the chief senate sponsor of the administration bill.

DEEP IN THE FOREST — Trees such as these, soaring 300 feet from the floor of the forest in Northern California, are the object of several efforts to set aside more national park space. President Johnson wants Congress to act quickly to set up the park, but Congress, so far, is holding back.

Bolinas At South End Of Point Reyes Peninsula

Looking north from over Bolinas Bay, from offshore at Stinson Beach, the southern portion of the Point Reyes Peninsula can be seen, extending south to Bolinas and Brighton Cliff and also west, on the horizon to the left, to Point Reyes. The narrow light peninsula of the Stinson Sand Spit almost reaches the town of Bolinas, across the channel which feeds Bolinas Lagooon. Just north of the cliff is Bolinas Mesa, while at the far left is the southern tip of the peninsula, Duxbury Point and Duxbury Reef, extending from the land. The reef is mostly dry at low tide, but under water other times. It took a heavy toll of 19th Century lumber schooners seeking their way along the coast in the fog. Around the corner from the point is Agate Beach. About where the hills start to rise north of the mesa is the southern boundary of the Point Reyes National Seashore. The western national seashore boundary runs along the valley at the right. That rift, Olema Valley, marks the San Andreas fault line, one of the most active earthquake faults in the world. The fault runs under Bolinas Lagoon and the sand spit, and then out to sea, coming inland again near the southern border of San Francisco. Highway 1 runs up Olema Valley. The highest peak to the left of the valley is Mount Wittenburg, 1,407 feet tall. On the coast, between Bolinas and Point Reyes juts Double Point and then the coast sweeps around smoothly to form Drake's Bay.

Marriage Ruling Reaction Is Mixed

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Protestant leaders have mixed feelings about the Vatican's new rules on mixed marriages.

They welcome the decree, issued in Rome March 18, as evidence of a sincere desire by Pope Paul VI to ease one of the major irritants in Protestant-Catholic relations.

But they are disappointed by the scope of the decree, which falls far short of the changes urged by many American and Western European bishops at the recent sessions of the Vatican Council.

The decree does make concessions to Protestant sensibilities. For example:

If the local Catholic bishop sees fit, he may settle for an oral rather than a written promise that the children will be raised as Catholics.

Instead of being relegated to the priest's study, a mixed marriage may henceforth be held in the church sanctuary, with all of the trimmings including a Nuptial Mass.

After the official marriage ceremony is over, the Protestant partner's minister may be allowed to say a prayer and "address some words of good wishes and exhortation" to the newlyweds.

During his historic visit to the Vatican last week, the Archbishop of Canterbury frankly told Pope Paul that these concessions "will not satisfy the consciences of Anglicans and other non-Roman Christians."

It makes no difference in principle, the Anglican leader said, whether a non-Catholic partner is required to sign a formal contract or simply to give verbal assurances that he won't try to have any say in the religious nurture of his children.

In either case, he is being required to surrender his rights as a parent and to acknowledge, in effect, that his own church is not a fit place for a child to be brought up as a Christian.

A number of highly placed Catholic prelates had urged that the ante-nuptial promises be abandoned altogether. Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, for example, has said on several occasions that the promises are more likely to generate resentment, evasion and deceit than to insure the Catholic upbringing of children.

Another sore point with Protestants is the emphasis in the new decree on the "absolute" necessity of avoiding any appearance that a Protestant minister is sharing in the conduct of the marriage service. In an analysis of the Vatican decree distributed this week, the American Baptist News Service called attention to this provision, and said:

"The fact that a non-Catholic pastor is allowed to say a prayer but not to participate in the actual marriage ceremony makes the Protestant minister something less than equal."

Rev. Dan M. Potter, executive director of the Protestant Council of New York City, observed that the Catholic Church is still taking the position that "a mixed marriage is valid only if performed by a Catholic priest."

"We look forward to the day when there will be a full recognition of the validity of the marriage rites of all religious bodies where agreed-upon conditions are met," he said.

Rev. A. Vissert Hooft, head of the World Council of Churches, said the instruction on such marriages "does not come up to the expectations raised by the promulgation of the declaration on religious liberty and the degree of ecumenism."

Helping to temper Protestant disappointment is a widespread belief that the March 18 decree is only a tentative first step, and that it will be followed in a year or so by further liberalization of mixed marriage rules.

This belief was strengthened when the Archbishop of Canterbury told reporters after his private talks with the Pope that the present decree should be regarded as "a provisional rather than a final statement" by the Vatican.

Jewish Congregations To Observe Passover

Marin's Jewish congregations will begin observance of the Passover this week.

At Congregation Kol Shofar, meeting at the Marin Jewish Community Center, San Rafael, there will be a model Seder at 10 a.m. tomorrow conducted by Rabbi Morris Schussheim for parents and children of the congregation.

Services are scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Monday, to be followed by individual home seders, and at 9 a.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. A memorial service is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. April 10.

Congregation Rodef Sholom will have a community seder at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the temple social hall at 170 San Pedro Road, San Rafael. It will include the traditional Passover foods such as Matzo balls, charoset and bitter herbs. There will be a memorial service at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

At San Quentin Prison a Seder will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 15 in the South Dining Room, with a special menu prepared by the prison aided by the Council of Jewish Women of San Francisco, which will provide certain ceremonial foods. A religious service will precede the dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Passover, the festival of Redemption, commemorates the deliverance of the Jewish people from their bondage in Egypt. It will be celebrated beginning at sundown, Monday. It is observed for seven days by Reform Jews, and for eight days by Conservative and Orthodox Jews.

Jews celebrate Passover with a ceremonial meal called the Seder, which means "Order of Service."

The most important Passover food is "Matzo," unleavened bread. It is unleavened as a reminder of the haste with which the Jewish people fled from Egypt—there was no time to allow the bread to rise.

During the ceremony Jews also eat "bitter herbs," which recall the bitterness of the years of oppression under Pharoah.

A roasted shank bone serves as an emblem of the paschal lamb, and the "charoset," a mixture of apples, nuts, raisins, cinnamon and wine is a sympol of the mortar from which the Israelites make bricks for the Egyptian Pharoahs during their slavery.

Merger Plans Made Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Protestant leaders made public yesterday a concrete plan for uniting seven major denominations with 20 million members within the next 5 to 13 years.

The merger plan was drafted by a high-level commission headed by the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, newly-elected general secretary of the World Council of Churches.

It envisions a union of the Methodist Church, Episcopal Church, United Presbyterian Church, Disciples of Christ, United Church of Christ, African Methodist Episcopal Church and Evangelical United Brethren.

Official delegations from the seven denominations will meet in Dallas, Tex., May 2-5 to consider the proposal.

Sleepy Hollow Firm Gets Suit For $150,000

The Sleepy Hollow firm of Stewart and Stewart, Inc., and two officials were sued for $150,000 yesterday in Marin Superior Court for allegedly taking away professional dining service clients from Automatic Retailers of America.

The latter, plaintiffs, also request a temporary restraining order and preliminary and permanent injunctions preventing the defendants, of 1111 Butterfield Road, from allegedly continuing to solicit customers of A.R.A.

According to the suit, David M. Stewart and LeRoy Blake, co-defendants, are former officials with A.R.A., with Stewart serving as regional operations manager for five years, and Blake as district manager.

Both men quit, according to the allegations, opened the Sleepy Hollow firm, and promptly used their former business contacts with at least two clients of A.R.A.—St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Red Bluff, Tehama County, and Mercy Hospital in Redding—to gain both hospital contracts.

Postal Bid By Ross Firm

Zolner Investment Co. of Ross was apparent low bidder this week for construction of a post office truck maintenance building next to the new main San Rafael post office on Bellam Boulevard.

The firm's $13,980 bid was lowest of five opened by the post office department in San Francisco.

The office of regional postal director Raymond R. Holmquist said awarding a contract may have to be reviewed by higher postal authorities in Washington, D. C., and it probably will not be awarded for about a month.

Construction, which will probably not begin until sometime in June, is expected to take about eight months.

Other bidders were the Pete King Corp. of Phoenix, Ariz., $16,250; Erickson Construction Co. of Sacramento, $16,453; L. DeTurk and Page Construction Co. of Petaluma (joint bid), $16,774.76; and N. F. Wallach of Los Angeles, $17,688.

The main post office is due for completion about July 1.

Marin Municipalities Prepare To Vote

See Page M2

Meet The April 12 Candidates

On April 12, residents of 10 of Marin County's 11 municipalities will be performing the act of citizenship shown in Independent-Journal Jim Kean's cover photo for this issue of the I-J Marin Magazine.

All except the city of San Rafael, which with its charter votes in the odd-numbered years, will be electing city and town council members.

Ballots containing a total of 57 names will be marked in the 10 cities and towns.

And only in the town of Ross will there not be competition for the council seats at stake.

Polls will be open 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In recognition of the approach of the 1966 municipal elections, the Marin Magazine is devoting most of this entire issue to the candidates. You will find photos, brief biographies and their views upon the issues of their communities on the pages that follow.

The importance of city elections are sometimes overlooked in the busy urban and suburban life of today. But the council members chosen April 12 will be making decisions that will vitally affect every resident of the community they represent. This special supplement offers the voters an opportunity to be certain they will make the best choice possible when they go to the polls a week from next Tuesday.

Three Vie For Two Seats In Belvedere

Three candidates, two of them incumbents, are seeking the two Belvedere City Council seats which will be at stake April 12.

The incumbents, led by Mrs. Sally G. Mathews, were first to take out nomination papers. Then G. Roger Felton, an unsuccessful candidate once before, joined the race.

A brief sketch of each candidate follows:

G. ROGER FELTON

G. ROGER FELTON, 35, of 201 Bay View Avenue, said he has two main reasons for seeking a city council seat. He is interested in "the economical operation of the city and a vigorous program for our youth."

He cited the hiring of jobless teen-agers plant an area and install benches along San Rafael Avenue in the city as an example of the kind of project he thought Belvedere needed more of.

"The teen-agers need to take an interest and pride in their city, for their own good, and ours," he said, promising more projects using volunteer help to improve the city without raising taxes.

A native of Caldwell, Idaho, Felton grew up in Kennewick, Wash. He is a designer for Schmidt Lithograph Co., San Francisco.

He moved to Belvedere in 1961 and almost immediately began regularly attending council meetings. He ran for the council in 1964 and missed election by 15 votes.

He and his wife, Marcia, have a son, Gregory, 8, and daughter, Louise, 1.

SALLY G. MATHEWS

MRS. SALLY G. MATHEWS, 47, who lives at 53 Peninsula Road, was first elected to the council in 1962.

"I hope to remain on the Belvedere City Council in order to help resolve some of our continuing problems, such as flooding in our lower areas and silting in the lagoon and cove," she said.

While Mrs. Mathews has been on the council, the neighboring area of Tiburon has become incorporated as a city. "Working in close harmony with Tiburon is of great importance," she commented.

"Not surprisingly, I also think a woman's viewpoint is of value in all council deliberations."

The wife of Dr. Benton D. Mathews, she is a resident of the city's Lagoon area.

She is president of the women's auxiliary of the San Francisco Yacht Club and is active in the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Mathews is the mother of Jody, 11; William, 13; Peter, 22, and Stephen, 24.

JOHN R. MOORE, 46, lives at 32 Golden Gate Avenue and is a 19-year resident of Belvedere.

"Contrary to popular belief, it is interesting to work on the city budget and to attempt to provide adequate city services," he said when he filed for re-election. He was first elected to the council in 1962.

Reviewing the past four years, he said, "I'd say the biggest dividend for me has been getting to know and work with the residents of Belvedere. The town is very important to my family and me."

A broker for the stock brokerage firm of Glore Forgan, William R. Staats and Co., he was recently named vice president in charge of administration for Northern California.

A native of Kansas and graduate of Kansas State University, Moore has been an active member of St. Stephens Church in Belvedere.

He and his wife, Marjorie, have three daughters, Kathleen, 18; Nancy, 15, and Robin, 12.

There's Field Of Seven In Corte Madera

All three incumbents are seeking re-election to the Corte Madera Town Council, but they have been joined in the race by four other aspirants.

The main issues raised so far in the election campaign have been recreational facilities, especially for teen-agers and the elderly, and parking for commuters.

But the problems of the construction work on Paradise Drive and the density of some apartment projects in the community have also been raised.

Comments and biographies of each candidate follow:

NORMAN R. BARNETT, 45, of 25 Staghound Passage, was first elected to the council in 1962, the only non-incumbent to win.

He said in one candidates' meeting that he feels the town has moved "in the proper direction" with adoption of a uniform animal ordinance, uniform building codes and gaining of better communications with neighboring cities and local school districts.

"Marin County is like a beautiful woman," he said, "with many moods and complexities," and must be dealt with on this basis.

Superintendent of the foundry division of M. Greenberg's Sons in San Francisco, his native city, he was president of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn. when he first ran for the council.

He is active in the Corte Madera Lions Club and was a member of the San Francisco Bay Area Joint Apprenticeship Council.

During World War II he served in the China-Burma-India theater. He and his wife have a daughter and son.

EDWARD W. COLTHURST, 56, is completing his second four-year term on the council and is the town's mayor. He lives at 480 Montecito Drive.

"If re-elected, it shall be my purpose to continue to work diligently to assure that the future growth of Corte Madera will enhance its reputation as a better place to live," he said when he filed.

"Projects I would like to explore in the next four years, both in financial feasibility and benefit to the community, are a library system, a possible arts center and a golf course.

"We have large undeveloped acreage east of Highway 101, the development of which will call for a vigilant and knowledgeable scrutiny of proposals submitted for this area," he concluded.

Colthurst, before his election to the council, served eight years on the town's planning commission, and is former president of the Corte Madera Volunteer Fire Department.

He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Marin Transit District and chairman of the advisory board for the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Zone.

A native of San Francisco, he attended St. James High School there. He is superintendent of manufacturing operations of Mipro Metal Products Co., South San Francisco.

Colthurst and his wife, Ivy, have two children, Robin, 17, and Dennis, 14.

ALBERT E. KOGLER, 50, is the third incumbent in the race. He was named to the council in November, 1958, to serve out the term of E. Robert Scoville, who had resigned. Kogler lives at 10 Echo Avenue.

"I will continue to advocate a strong police and fire department," he said.

"As our residential as well as business population increases, it is most important that these two departments receive the support necessary to allow them to keep pace with progress and supply the taxpayers with the protection to which they are entitled."

He claimed credit for establishment of a second firehouse, recently built on the east side of Highway 101. He promised "road rebuilding, road overlay, parking areas for commuters and the elimination of curb ponding problems caused by the uneven settlement of filled areas."

For seven years chairman of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation Commission, he promised work to establish a well-rounded all-year recreation program for the city, with special emphasis on teen-agers.

He promised strong support of the town planning ordinances, and said he would work for speedier development of Paradise Drive as a thoroughfare.

Kogler is vice president of Glore Forgan, William R. Staats, Inc., stock brokerage firm in San Francisco, and is a member of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange. He is a 10-year resident of Corte Madera.

Before his appointment to the council he had run unsuccessfully for the post in the 1958 election. He is a graduate of San Mateo Junior College.

He and his wife, Louise, have two children, Ricky, 9, and Lu Veda, 8, attending San Clemente School.

HOLMES S. (PETE) NORVILLE, 40, of 126 Granada Drive, has often been seen at council meetings in recent years representing the Marin Estates Homeowners Assn., of which he has been president three terms.

He has pushed for "an aggressive road building program," especially for Paradise Drive. He said he supported recreation, but opposed establishing a special tax to support the town's program.

"I strongly believe it is necessary to plan for and to provide commuter parking space in the proximity of public transportation facilities," Norville added.

A native of Albuquerque, N.M., he is a graduate in mechanical engineering from Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa.

He works for Hexcel Products, Inc., of Berkeley, designing tools to produce honeycomb core material used in lightweight aerospace structures.

A lieutenant commander in the naval reserve, he served in the navy in World War II and the Korean conflict, attached to the Korean Navy as an advisor 1950 to 1952.

He and his wife, Alta, have no children.

CHARLES D. THOMPSON, 43, of 10 Enterprise Drive, has stated he will base his campaign on the need for an expanded park and recreation program and on improved streets and sidewalks.

A toll collector for the Golden Gate Bridge, he is a two-year resident of Corte Madera.

He has sharply criticized the present council for approving plans for 144 units of townhouses on 13.5 acres at Prince Royal and Paradise drives, noting the density was much higher than the average density of Marincello.

He also claimed the council has delayed construction of Paradise Drive widening for 14 years. He has asked for paved commuter parking areas on three acres east of Highway 101 owned by the town and the state.

Thompson is a graduate of Borger High School in Texas and attended the U.S. Maritime Training School. He and his wife have a six-year-old daughter.

HAROLD B. WAGSTAFF, 48, lives at 472 Montecito Drive. He is the designer of Corte Madera's second firehouse.

A Corte Madera resident since 1951, he is a member of the volunteer fire department, the planning commission and the board of design.

Wagstaff cited four main areas of concern in his campaign. They are a closer relationship between the council and planning commission, strengthening the town street paving program, underground utilities and tree planting for all main streets.

An architect, he is a partner of Wagstaff and McDonald, San Anselmo. A native of San Francisco, he attended San Francisco State College and the University of California.

He and his wife, Elinor, have three children, Brock, 18; Nancy, 15, and Terry, 14, all students at Redwood High School.

ELLEN M. WIRTH, 38, lives at 25 Alta Way, and is the only woman in the Corte Madera race.

"As a woman I can involve myself in seeking just laws and ordinances such as fences for the lagoon and sloughs," she said.

"I would like to save the tax dollar and avoid costly recreation directors and provide a channel for our senior citizens to operate an activity center for group recreation."

Mrs. Wirth said she would work for a junior achievement program in the town. She decried the lack of use of the Lions Club's Recreation Center for town purposes. She also has asked for new legislation dealing with subdivisions to force developers to provide a part of the cost for off-site widening of roads.

A 10 year resident of Corte Madera, she is the wife of Ted C. Wirth. She is a native of New York, N.Y., and has attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and New York University.

She has one son, Paul Blissembach, by a previous marriage. Her first husband died as a prisoner of war in Korea. By her second marriage she has another son, Charles Wirth, and a married stepson, Wayne Wirth of San Rafael.

There's Field Of Six In Fairfax

There are twice as many candidates for the Fairfax City Council as there are seats open, with six persons running for three vacancies.

Two incumbents, Mayor Frank L. Lawrence Sr. and Robert R. Souza, will face challengers Frank J. Egger, Stanley W. Little, Martin L. Roth and Mrs. Adelaide P. Wilson.

Waldemar E. Radtke is not seeking re-election.

The candidates are:

FRANK J. EGGER, 27, of 13 Meadow Way, a bread salesman for a San Francisco bakery, is chairman of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission.

A native of San Francisco, Egger has lived in Marin County for seven years and in Fairfax three years.

Among Egger's aims are construction of tennis courts, additional tree planting in the downtown area and expansion of the recreation program to serve persons of all ages.

In regard to planning he said, "We must do everything possible to be sure the freeway (Route 17) is routed around our city. A freeway through Fairfax would permanently mar the natural beauty of our city and cause severe economic repercussions."

He also urged immediate implementation of the city-county general plan for Fairfax, adequate parks and recreation facilities and underground utilities.

Egger also is a member of the citizens architectural advisory board and a member of Fairfax Parlor 307, Native Sons of the Golden West. He attended the College of Marin and the University of San Francisco and was graduated from Santa Rosa Junior College.

FRANK L. LAWRENCE SR., 63, of 344 Cascade Drive, who is now serving as mayor, has been a member of the council since 1962.

A resident of Fairfax since 1947, Lawrence is administrative assistant to the Army Reserve in San Francisco. He retired from an Army career as a sergeant major after serving in both World War II and the Korean War.

Lawrence, senior member of the council, said that several major projects have been initiated during his term and he would like to work toward their completion.

"I feel we're on the right road and I feel I can help keep it going along this way," Lawrence said. He said that the city administrator system, started during his term, "has proven itself" and the "recreation program is on a par with any in the county."

Lawrence said he feels the "public image" of the Fairfax council has changed during his term as mayor. "We haven't been accused of private meetings during the past year, because there haven't been any," he said.

Lawrence is a past president and trustee of Fairfax Parlor 307, Native Sons of the Golden West.

STANLEY W. LITTLE, 34, of 34 Olema Road, an assistant rate engineer for Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco, is secretary of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission.

A native of Oakland, Little has lived in the Bay Area all his life and in Marin County since he was 15. He moved from San Rafael to Fairfax six years ago.

Little said he would be a true representative of the people and not a spokesman for any special interests. He also said he would work to see that "bank-to-bank concrete and cyclone fencing doesn't happen" in Fairfax. "The city must not be torn apart by the freeway for Highway 17," he said.

After attending San Rafael High School and the College of Marin, he was graduated from San Francisco State College with a degree in business administration.

During the Korean War, he served with the Air Force in Canada as an Airman First Class.

Little is a former treasurer at Fairfax Community Church and now serves as choir director.

MARTIN L. ROTH, 43, of 180 Bothin Road, a supervising engineer for Bechtel Corp. in San Francisco, has been a member of the Fairfax Planning Commission for the past 18 months.

A native of New York City, he moved to Fairfax from Park Forest, Ill., in 1964.

Roth has worked in the field of municipal and sanitary engineering for 15 years after earning a degree in biological science from the University of Chicago and a degree in civil engineering from the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Roth feels he can make a worthwhile contribution to the city because of his engineering training and experience in municipal affairs.

"I have prepared and had approved by municipalities, subdivision plans both large and small," he said. "I have prepared planning reports, storm drainage reports and comprehensive water and sewer programs for a city comparable in size to Fairfax."

During World War II he was a radar maintenance sergeant with the Eighth Air Force in England. He is secretary of the Men's Club at Temple Rodef Sholem and a member of the American Water Works Assn., American Society of Civil Engineers, Water Pollution Control Federation and Instrument Society of America.

ROBERT R. SOUZA, 42, of 18 Claus Circle, has been a member of the council since May 15, 1964, when he was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Freeman Blake.

Souza is employment service supervisor and assistant manager of the State Department of Employment office in San Rafael.

Prior to serving on the council, Souza was chairman of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission.

"I feel that the knowledge and experience I have gained since serving on the Fairfax City Council and prior service on the Park and Recreation Commission will be of value to the citizens of Fairfax," Souza said.

He said an incumbent should be judged by the "measures he implemented or supported, which are reflected in council action. I feel the present Fairfax council has an impressive record of accomplishments."

Among the achievements are the introduction of a city administrator type of government "resulting in better service and greater benefits for our people with no increase in taxes," he said.

Souza also said he will support implementation of the joint city-county general plan which he considers one of the greatest developments in the city's history, and will reject any routing of Highway 17 through Fairfax. At the same time, he said, he will support any reasonable suggestions to alleviate the traffic flow along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and will work to improve communication between the council and the public.

A native of San Francisco, Souza has been a Fairfax resident for 10 years. He was graduated from the College of Marin in 1948 and from the University of San Francisco with a degree in psychology in 1950.

ADELAIDE P. WILSON of 189 Cascade Drive is chairman of one of the citizens commitees working on the Fairfax General Plan, the commercial committee.

She had served as treasurer of the Central Marin League of Women Voters but resigned that post when she took out her nomination papers for the council.

A native of Seattle, Wash., she has lived in Fairfax since 1961 has served on the board of the Fairfax Citizens Study Group for three years. She is the wife of Russell C. Wilson, a baker.

"I feel the biggest unmet problem in Fairfax is the lack of communication between the council and the citizens of Fairfax," Mrs. Wilson said. "There have been many times in the past when citizens advisory committees should have been set up to work with the council in drawing up ordinances or to help find solutions to a specific problems. In many instances, since the public wasn't consulted, they have been antagonistic to the council's proposals."

Mrs. Wilson is a graduate of Principia College, Elsah, Ill., where she majored in English and aesthetics. She is the mother of three children, legislative chairman for Deer Park and Central School Parent-Teacher Assns., and president of the Fairfax Guild of the Boyd Natural Science Museum.

STEREO HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

During the past couple of months I have driven to Reno-Sparks and to Tahoe South shore several times. Although I'm not immune to gambling, the main purpose for the trips was to see and hear prominent entertainers; namely, Peggy Lee, Connie Francis, Arthur Godfrey, and most recently, Al Hirt. To hear these entertainers perform live over the finest sound systems is a real pleasure. It sets a standard for what to expect from our home stereo music systems.

On the night of March 23rd at the Circus Room Theatre Restaurant, I was fortunate enough to see and hear Al Hirt's closing show. He was so well liked that the audience gave him a standing ovation. Hearing the live "bell-like" trumpet sounds ring out through the room was an enjoyable experience.

At the time I designed and engineered the sound system for the Nugget Circus Room Theatre Restaurant in Reno-Sparks, Nevada, I was instructed to provide the finest in sound. This meant distortion free, natural sound with unlimited flexibility. For natural, clear sound I used Altec amplifiers, and Altec "Voice of the Theatre" speaker systems in the processing. The system design included a tape time delay unit, a very large variable reverberation unit, a three channel stereo operator's console, and many other electronic necessities required for top rate entertainment.

How does all this concern you? Now you can have Altec "Voice of the Theatre" sound in your component home music system. Yes, we have the new home furniture models on display in our Sound Room. Yes, they are large, but they are extremely attractive and they have the natural distortion free sound required for the ultimate in listening. The new Altec A7-500W-1 features the very same speaker units and horn loaded cabinets that are used in Reno-Sparks and South shore, and in Las Vegas where entertainment is at its most lavish best.

Visit one of the Nevada theatre restaurants. Hear the live sound of our greatest artists, then visit our sound room and let us design a music console for your home to equal the quality you heard (less the very loud volume, of course).

Six Seeking Two Seats In Larkspur

Mayor Is Lone Incumbent Running For Reelection

There are six candidates running for two seats on the Larkspur City Council including the mayor, a former mayor and two members of the planning commission.

The lone incumbent seeking re-election is Mayor Neil R. Brixon. On the ballot with him will be aspirants Mrs. Jane Epidendio, Daniel Allen, William G. Fleckles, Alfred Malvino and Colin K. White.

The candidates are:

DANIEL ALLEN, 61, of 215 West Baltimore Avenue, served on the council from 1956 until 1963 when he resigned because of illness and a long planned trip to Europe. He served as mayor in 1958 and 1959.

Allen retired in 1948 from the real estate division of the Army Engineers.

A native of Andover, Mass., Allen was a football star at Yale University where he was graduated in 1926. He played in the East-West Shrine that year and has been a resident of California ever since.

He has been a resident of Larkspur since 1948 and is a member of the Larkspur Lions Club. Among his earlier jobs he worked for the Shell Oil Co. and was a wartime shipfitter at Marinship.

NEIL R. BRIXON, 44, of 329 North Almenar Drive, has been a member of the council since September, 1960, and is now serving as mayor.

He is the owner of Elite Rug Cleaners in Larkspur and a member of the Larkspur Lions Club, Larkspur Chamber of Commerce, and Fairfax Lodge 556 Free and Accepted Masons. A native of Hawley, Minn., he has been a long-time resident of Marin.

Brixon said he would work to support projects and policies started during the past few years such as the recently adopted general plan, and revisions to the zoning ordinance.

He also would continue the 10-year street improvement program and continue to promote the development of the proposed Larkspur park and recreation facilities through county, state and federal financing.

He would support a reasonable and financially sound plan for development of Corte Madera Creek and continue consideration of needed city facilities such as a new library and city hall, he said.

MRS. JANE EPIDENDIO, 50, of 90 Corte Fedore, is co-owner of a grocery store.

She and her husband, Ernest, operate the Rainbow Market on Magnolia Avenue.

A native of San Francisco, she has been a resident of Larkspur for 30 years and is a member of the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Epidendio ran for the council in 1960 and lost by five votes. She said she would try to "save the tax dollar whenever possible and hire the most competent city manager."

One of her platforms is to help "develop properly all the undeveloped land the city has on the south side of the canal and to cooperate with land owners and business people of our industrial area east of Highway 101 for proper drainage and development."

Mrs. Epidendio also said she would work to develop a central park on part of the 30 acres owned by the city between Redwood High School and Henry C. Hall elementary school.

WILLIAM G. FLECKLES, 36, of 331 Bretano Way, an attorney, is chairman of the Larkspur Planning Commisison.

A past president of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn., he has served on the planning commission since 1964.

A native of Chicago, Ill., has been a resident of Greenbrae since 1960. He was graduated from the University of San Francisco with a law degree in 1955.

Fleckles said his prime objective is "to insure the orderly execution of the Larkspur general plan recently adopted by the city council." He said he was interested in protecting the 350-acre undeveloped hillside which forms the boundary between Larkspur and Mill Valley.

Fleckles also believes that the Larkspur business district on Magnolia Avenue should be retained as the commercial center of town, and that councilmen should work for development of a city park and civic center at the site of the old Larkspur dump.

ALFRED J. MALVINO, 49, of 87 Dartmouth Drive, owner of Malvino Furniture Co. in San Francisco, is serving his third term as president of the Twin Cities Little League.

A native of Alameda, Malvino has been a resident of Larkspur for 10 years and is a member of the Hillview Home Owners Assn.

He is a director of the Salesian Boys Club in San Francisco and a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West, American Legion and San Rafael Elks lodge.

Malvino is especially concerned about establishing a park on the site of the former county dump in Larkspur and the providing of adequate space for field sports.

During World War II, he served as a staff sergeant in the Army Medical Corps in Europe. He also has served as a member of the State Advisory Board for the Furniture and Bedding Bureau.

COLIN K. WHITE, 32, of 32 Olive Avenue, assistant production manager at General Converting and Laminating Corp. in Emeryville, is vice chairman of the Larkspur Planning Commission.

White, a native of San Francisco, attended grammar school, Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin before attending California Polytechnic College where he was graduated with a bachelor's degree in engineering.

White said his main objective is "to strive for the proper and orderly development of the undeveloped areas of the city and to implement steps similar to those presented in the recently rejected precise plan on the Larkspur Center to the Magnolia Avenue business district."

The city should attempt to develop a park in conjunction with a new city library on the old county dump site adjacent to Redwood High School, he said.

White served as a journalist first class in the Navy in Korea after the fighting ceased.

Mill Valley's Wide Open Race

Six Community Leaders Eye Two Posts In This Year's City Council Election

Mill Valley is scheduled to have a wide open race with six candidates, none incumbents, battling for two vacancies on the city council.

Councilmen Joseph E. Sheeks and William M. Secor, whose terms expire, have not entered the race.

Residence, conservations, recreation, downtown revitalization are some of the matters receiving attention.

The candidates are:

LOUIS E. BARTOLINI, 34, of 145 Val Vista, is an account executive for the stock brokerage firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith in San Francisco.

He is a past president of the Mill Valley National Little League and vice president of the parent-teacher guild of Our Lady of Mount Carmel School.

A native of San Francisco, Bartolini was graduated from the University of San Francisco in 1953 when he received the outstanding senior award presented by USF alumni.

He was a first lieutenant in the Army serving as an instructor at the Transportation Officer School at Fort Eustis, Va. He is a member of the Street Club of San Francisco, a member of the University of San Francisco Alumni Assn. and a guest lecturer on investments at San Francisco State College.

JOHN FINN III, 48, of 19 Roosevelt Avenue, a public accountant, served on the city's architectural advisory committee from May, 1964, until Aug. 17, 1965.

Finn was one of the founders of the Mill Valley Citizens for Good Government in 1964, and he is a member of the Mill Valley Youth Council and the Mill Valley Rotary Club.

A native of Mill Valley, he was graduated from San Francisco Junior College and the University of San Francisco with a Bachelor's Degree in accounting.

He is a former treasurer of the Church of Our Saviour, member of Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons, and a member of the Society of California Pioneers.

During World War II he served in the Navy aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ranger.

DAVID BRUCE GARDNER, 33, of 160 Monte Vista Avenue, is a stockbroker with his own Mill Valley office, Gardner and Co., at 74 Throckmorton Avenue.

He formerly was resident manager for Beckman and Co., in Mill Valley.

Gardner, a graduate from Arizona State University, served in the Army for two years with the Atomic Energy Commission.

He is a member of the Sartoma Club of Mill Valley and Corte Madera.

Gardner believes that Mill Valley should be governed by people who are "24-hour residents" as opposed to commuters. During a radio discussion on Radio Station KTIM, he labeled himself a "maverick" and said he is opposed "to the burgermeister approach to city government."

DEAN N. MEYER, 38, of 30 Sarah Drive, is president of Leo W. Meyer Ltd., a San Francisco insurance brokerage company.

He resigned as chairman of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission when he became a council candidate after serving on the commission for four years.

Meyer is a member of the board of governors of the Insurance Brokers Assn. of California and a past director and officer of the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He is a past president of Scott Highlands Homeowners Assn., past chairman of the Sierra Club's Marin Chapter conservation committee, a participant in organization of the Marin Conservation Council and a life member of the Society of California Pioneers and the University of California Alumni Assn.

During comments over Radio Station KTIM, Meyer said he would pledge a policy of conservation, including subdivision design which would compliment the landscape and result in the improvement of trails and slopes.

DR. WILLARD H. PENNELL, 40, of 70 Longview Drive, is chief of the neurology clinic at Presbyterian Medical Center in San Francisco, and is also engaged in private practice in San Francisco.

He also is a consultant on neurology at Stanford Medical School, for the San Francisco Board of Education and the Crippled Childrens Service.

A native of Portland, Ore., Dr. Pennell has been a resident of Mill Valley for 10 years. He is president of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Assn. and served on the board of Cub Scout Pack 26 in 1963-64.

He was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and from the university's medical school and served his internship at Boston and residency in New York.

He served in the Air Force during the Korean War stationed in Tokyo as a neuro-psychiatric consultant for the Far East Air Force, and was a major when discharged.

During a talk on Radio Station KTIM, Pennell said he would work for completion of Project 17, encourage improvements in the downtown area and work for sidewalks so children can walk safely to and from school.

RODRIC L. ROBINSON, 41, of 337 Vista Linda, is an attorney with the firm of Healy and Robinson in San Francisco.

He has served on the Mill Valley Planning Commission for four years and is now serving as chairman of that commission.

Robinson, a native of Aurora, Ill., has been a resident of Mill Valley for 17 years.

He is president of the Park School Parent-Teacher Assn., a past chairman of the Marin County Easter Seal campaign, and a past director of the United Cerebral Palsy in Marin.

Robinson believes that "constant effort is needed to assure that Mill Valley grows according to its established character. This can be accomplished by sound, realistic planning and strong resistance to the pressures of over-development."

He also said that he favors the use of planning funds for revitalization of the downtown area, while retaining Lytton Square as the focal point for Mill Valley.

Robinson also stressed the importance of implementing the plan for Project 17 including the youth and community center.

Robinson was graduated from the University of Chicago with a degree in business administration and from the Golden Gate College of Law with a law degree.

ROSS TOWN COUNCIL

Two Candidates— But No Contest

There will be no contest for two seats on the Ross Town Council since the only candidates are the two incumbents seeking re-election.

MAYOR FREDERICK S. ALLEN, of 131 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, who was appointed to the council in 1960 and elected to a four-year term in 1962, is seeking re-election.

Allen is semi-retired after serving as vice president of Pacific Coast Title Co. from 1958 through 1965. He is a retired Navy commander having served throughout World War II and the Korean conflict.

Allen said: "If re-elected, my aims, as in the past, will be to provide adequate park and recreational facilities, more than adequate police and fire protection and some measure of flood control for the entire Ross Valley."

A native of New York City, he has lived in Ross since 1946. He is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, San Rafael Elks Lodge, and a former member of the Marin County Grand Jury.

ROY FARRINGTON JONES, 41, of 20 Olive Avenue, a realty broker and appraiser, is a partner in the realty firm of Farrington Jones and Son in San Anselmo.

Jones was elected to a four-year term on the council in 1962 and is seeking re-election.

He has served on citizen advisory committees in both Ross and San Anselmo and as a director of the Town of Ross Property Owners Assn.

Jones also served a term on the Marin County Republican Central Committee, 1950-52, and was appointed to the Citizens Advisory Committee on Development of Marin in 1956.

He is a member of the San Rafael Elks Lodge, a past secretary of the Marin County Real Estate Board, a member of the American Right of Way Assn. and a senior member of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers.

During World War II he served in the Navy Hospital Corps.

A Large Field In Novato, Too

Incumbents Retire, Leaving Council Contest To Six Of Community's Active Leaders

Novato has six candidates vying for two seats on the city council. The field includes a former mayor, but none of the aspirants is an incumbent.

Councilmen Lucile Cannon and Mayor Robert D. Carrow, whose terms expire, are not seeking another term. Several aspirants, however, boast experience in city and civic affairs.

The candidates are:

JOSEPH F. BONOMOLO, 49, of 201 San Felipe Way, is the owner of a gasoline service station at the Novato Fair Shopping Center.

A native of New York City, Bonomolo has been a resident of California for 27 years and operated a garage in San Francisco for 12 years before moving to Novato a year ago.

He is president of the Novato Fair Merchants Assn. and a past treasurer of the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs when he represented Los Ranchitos, with that group.

Bonomolo, making his first attempt to gain public office, said: "It is high time that we realize that Novato is no longer a bedroom community and that our city needs tax dollars from sources other than our home owners."

He said he would seek more adequate police protection, beautification of the city, more creative programs, more progressive planning and better croodination of local departments and agencies to provide improved utilization of city services.

Bonomolo also said he would give full support to the airport project and to the move to establish countywide toll-free telephone service for Novato.

MRS. HELEN GREVING, wife of William Greving of 7 Harding Drive, is a member and past chairman of the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission.

A native of Wasco, Kern County, she has been a resident of Marin County for 11 years.

Mrs. Greving formerly worked as a medical secretary and has been active in Junior Catholic Social Services, Parent-Teacher Assn., Little League and Cub Scouts.

Last June the Junior Social Service Auxiliary of Catholic Social Service formed a Novato chapter and named Mrs. Greving as the first chairman.

During a candidate's night discussion, Mrs. Greving said Novato needs to improve its general appearance and to install parks if it hopes to attract industry. She also urged a better slope and drainage ordinance and improvements in the downtown shopping area.

WAYNE HATHAWAY, 31, of 75 Crescent Lane, assistant vice president of Marin County Savings and Loan Assn., is chairman of the Novato Planning Commission.

Hathaway was Novato's first city treasurer, chairman of the citizens industrial planning committee and a member of the All-America City award committee.

He also is a member of the Novato Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Marin Development Assn.

A native of Rome, N. Y., Hathaway formerly worked for the Central Valley National Bank in Novato and the First Western Bank in San Rafael.

MRS. BETTY MACHADO, wife of John Machado of 1424 Dawes Street, was a member of the city's first parks and recreation commission.

Mrs. Machado, who worked for incorporation of Novato, is a member of the North Marin Unit of the Conservation League, the 14th District Parent-Teacher Assn., the Marin County Juvenile Court Auxiliary and the Novato Toastmistress Club.

A native of Oakland, she grew up in Marin County and the Sacramento Valley. Prior to her marriage 20 years ago, she worked as a telephone operator for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Mrs. Machado believes there should be a woman on the city council to present a woman's viewpoint and provide a better balance of opinion.

During a candidate's night discussion, Mrs. Machado said council meetings should be improved in their organization and should end by 10:30 p.m. She also said there should be better public relations between city hall and the public, especially in the public works department.

HARLEY McASKILL, 43, of 291 San Felipe Way, owner of a clothing store in Novato, was chairman of the city's first planning commission and served in that capacity until 1963.

McAskill was a candidate for the original Novato City Council at the time of incorporation and finished sixth then among 26 candidates.

He is a member of the Elks, the Novato Druids, the Novato Chamber of Commerce and the Novato Rotary Club. During World War II he served in the Navy in the South Pacific.

A native of nearby Petaluma, McAskill was graduated from Santa Rosa Junior College.

During the candidate's night discussion, McAskill said Novato must match other cities in labor force, recreation, schools, police and fire protection if it is to attract industry.

He also said that "Novato should get the best service for its tax dollar," and favored location of the proposed civic center on South Novato Boulevard.

M. E. BABE SILVA, 59, of 837 Sweetser Avenue, a field representative for Borden Milk Co., is a former mayor of the city.

Silva was elected to the council when Novato was incorporated in 1960 and served as mayor in 1962-64, but was defeated in a bid for re-election in 1964.

A native of Marin County, his family moved to Novato when he was still an infant.

Silva was active in the organization of the Novato Fire District, Novato Sanitary District and North Marin Water District. He is a member of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, the Elks, the Druids and Rotary Club. He also is a volunteer fireman and a life member of the Parent-Teacher Assn. and Novato Little League.

Silva believes that purchases of land for parks and a civic center and street and drainage improvement should be put before the people in a bond issue for their decision.

He questioned the proposal to place a civic center on South Novato Boulevard site and suggested that the city buy land north or east of the present city hall, which he contends is more centrally located and more accessible.

7 On Ballot In Hub City

There will be seven candidates, including two incumbents, battling for three seats on the San Anselmo City Council.

The candidates are:

WOODROW V. CAPURRO, 45, of 79 Lincoln Avenue, who was elected to his first term in 1962, is now serving as mayor.

Capurro, a former semi-pro baseball player, is a lather superintendent for Weber Plastering Co. of San Rafael.

He is a past president of Lathers Union Local 268, a charter member of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post in San Anselmo and a former coach of a championship Little League team in San Anselmo.

Capurro believes that the city is financially sound, "and increased revenues should put us in a better position."

He said the city has a full-time park and recreation director and an athletic director who have a diversified program in operation.

Primary and secondary roads are being improved and the city in conjunction with the Marin Municipal Water District is replacing inadequate water lines.

"I am opposed to any freeway through our town," Capurro said.

CEDRIC E. CLUTE, 59, of 100 Sycamore Avenue, has been a member of the council since 1963 when he was appointed to complete the term of Robert E. Rouse who resigned.

Clute, a real estate salesman, formerly owned a leather goods store on San Anselmo Avenue.

A native of Oakland, he was two months old when his family moved to Ross and he attended Ross School. The family then moved to San Francisco where he attended high school, and then to San Anselmo where he has lived ever since.

Clute believes that the central problem in San Anselmo in coming years will be traffic along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

He said the master plan for downtown San Anselmo must be re-evaluated in light of the development of the Sunny Hills Shopping Center.

CARLETON G. LITTLE, 65, of 31 Carolina Avenue, a former councilman, 1958-62, who served as mayor in 1961, is seeking another term on the council.

Little recently retired from his 20-year position as corporation secretary and purchasing agent for Duncanson-Haraldsen Co. of Richmond.

Little has been a resident of San Anselmo since 1953 and was the organizer and first president of Isabel Cook School Dads' Club.

Little said his experience on the council and the fact that he is retired and can devote full time to the job will enable him to contribute to the city.

He said things that need to be done include construction of a new firehouse, modernization and enlargement of the city library, creation of a recreation commission and purchase of the 62-acre Sorich Ranch for park and corporation yard.

Little said he will strongly support the efforts of parents, school officials and the police department to prevent narcotics from getting a foothold in the city and county, and will make increased efforts to solve street and traffic problems.

JAMES T. MURPHY, 55, of 13 Bay Tree Lane, an appraiser for Ross Valley Savings and Loan Assn., is vice chairman of the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

Murphy, a native of Kentucky, has lived in the Fairfax-San Anselmo area since 1949.

Murphy has indicated that he will place emphasis, in his campaign, on San Anselmo traffic patterns, and stressed that he is opposed to construction of any freeway through San Anselmo.

He said he favors the use of the city's slope policy for subdivisions, but not in "simple lot splits."

During World War II Murphy served in the Pacific and was awarded the Navy Cross. He is a member of the U. S. Legion of Valor.

DUANE C. RAGAN, 54, of 457 Laurel Avenue, a department sales manager at the Emporium at Northgate Shopping Center, is a member of the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

Ragan, a retired Army master sergeant, will be making his second bid for the council after losing out in the 1964 election.

"Since that time I have had the honor and pleasure of serving on our city planning commission and I have surely gained valuable community experience in this assignment," he said.

Ragan said the contemplated freeway should not be constructed down Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through San Anselmo and Fairfax.

The city's participation in the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control District should never result in the construction of a concrete ditch through San Anselmo, he said. "The aesthetic values of the creek should be fully utilized to the benefit of all our citizenry."

Ragan also believes that the city administrator, the top non-elective official of the city, should live in San Anselmo.

ROBERT M. SCOTT, 52, of 9 Sunview Avenue, is a partner in the San Francisco law firm of Myrick, Deering and Scott.

A native of San Francisco, he has been a resident of San Anselmo for 18 years. He is charter member of San Anselmo Homes Assn., Richmond Lodge 375, Free and Accepted Masons, and Scottish Rite, Islam Shrine.

During World War II, he served in the coast and anti-artillery units and Army intelligence, rising from private to major.

He feels that applying business principles to local government is first in importance. "The local tax rate should be kept at its present level or even reduced as our city and its tax base grows," he said. "Many of our citizens are retired, living on fixed incomes, or young families new to our community, and cannot afford an increase."

Scott also feels that a freeway through San Anselmo must be opposed, and city ordinances, particularly the slope policy, must be impartially enforced.

He believes that helping local business will help the city. "A purchase made in San Anselmo adds to our city's tax revenues," he said.

MRS. ANNE WEST, 45, of 21 Crescent Lane, is vice president of the San Anselmo Homes Assn.

She is the wife of John West, a member of the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

A native of Dallas, Tex., Mrs. West attended school in Southern California and was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley.

She is a member of the Sierra Club, Marin Conservation League, Audubon Society, American Civil Liberties Union, Marin Women's Tennis Club and California Roadside Council.

She was news editor of the Daily Californian during her senior year at the University of California, and worked as a reporter during World War II.

Mrs. West said if elected she will have three basic aims: To protect the landscape, to improve the basic services and to revitalize the downtown area.

"Two of our basic services, streets and water mains, lead any list of needed improvements," she said.

"Our old downtown is both unattractive and inconvenient for shoppers. These facts are reflected in the small sales tax contributions our merchants can make to the city budget," she said.

New shopping centers are draining business away, but the downtown center plan would be a step to halt this trend, Mrs. West said. The problem, however, is financing and the city must look into the possibilities of obtaining urban renewal funds, she said.

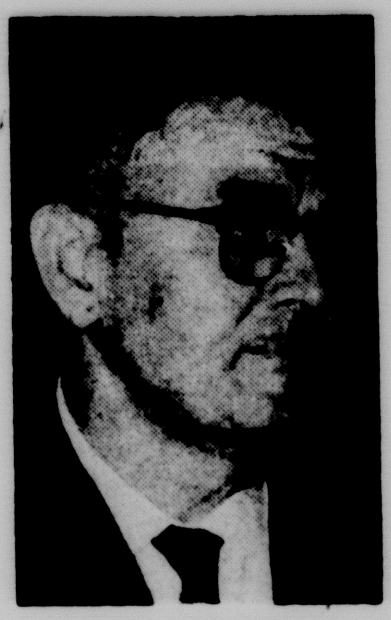
Two Incumbents, Four Challengers On Sausalito Ballot



EARL F. DUNPHY

JAN PAUL DYK

MARSHA OWEN

MATHEW J. PERRY

S. ROBERT POLITZER

SERGE TRUBACH

The two incumbents and four challengers are running for two seats on the Sausalito City Council in a campaign marked by disputes over widening of Bridgeway, police protection and, although it is outside the city, Marincello.

Candidates have promised to do something about crowded parking conditions, and have asked for help for local businesses. Two of the challengers have run before, and a third is a recently retired city employee.

Short statements of views and biographies of the candidates follow:

EARL F. DUNPHY, of 33 Filbert Avenue, is rounding out 10 years on the City Council, but he did not run for the term he is now serving.

A 48-year resident of Sausalito, he was first elected in 1936 and served until 1944. From 1946 to 1956 he was a planning commissioner.

When Mayor Paul Micou resigned in April, 1964, right after the election that year, Dunphy was appointed by the remaining councilmen to replace him.

Dunphy said he opposes a tax increase for the city, and feels that if foot patrols are needed for downtown Sausalito at night, the present police force can provide the men.

He has joined the rest of the council in opposing Marincello's development, proposed for the land north of the Golden Gate Headlands.

Dunphy is a machinist in the San Francisco Chronicle composing room. He was acting postmaster of Sausalito from November, 1949 to June, 1951.

JAN PAUL DYK, 48, lives at 122 Crescent Avenue, and has been Sausalito's mayor the past two years.

"I will continue the work towards the preservation of Sausalito as a beautiful residential community," Dyk promised in his campaign statement.

Planning for the development of the downtown waterfront should take top priority, now that the city has been protected, for the time being, by the moratorium on filling the bay, he said.

"I am fully committed to the selecting of a site for and the building of a new library," he added. He also called for a stricter sign ordinance "to prevent a type of carnival atmosphere" in the community.

He closed by saying he was confident that we can maintain and possibly lower the tax rate of $1.25 per $100 assessed value."

Dyk is a native of Haarlem, the Netherlands, and attended three years in the merchant marine academy at Amsterdam. He was a cadet officer in the Dutch merchant navy.

He works as manager of the inward freight division of the Holland-America Line, with an office in San Francisco.

He is past president of the Sausalito Citizens Council and presently chairman of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission. He was first elected to the council in 1962.

Dyk and his wife, Eugenia Dyk, have one daughter, Michaelann.

MARSHA OWEN, better known as Sally Stanford, 62, is undoubtedly the best known candidate for any city council post in Marin. She has run unsuccessfully twice before, in 1962 and 1964, and has vowed to keep on running until she wins.

She lives at 207 Bridgeway and owns and operates the Vaihalla Inn at 201 Bridgeway. The former proprietor of a San Francisco call house has run the restaurant for the past 18 years.

If she wins this time, she has vowed to do her best to have City Mgr. Charles A. Brown fired. Sausalito is looking for a new police chief, and Miss Stanford has said the new man should be raised from the ranks of the present force.

She said recently she intends to act as a representative of local business proprietors on the council, if elected. On Marincello, she said the development is not the concern of Sausalito's council.

A native of Baker, Ore., she has declined to say when she started business in San Francisco. She is a member of the Sausalito Foundation and of both the Sausalito and San Francisco chambers of commerce.

Four times married and now divorced, she has two adopted children, now grown. Her autobiography, "The Lady of the House," was recently published.

MATHEW J. PERRY, 63, was born in Sausalito and has lived there all his life, spending 23 years of it as fire chief. He retired last year, and says he will have plenty of time now to watch over the city as a councilman. He lives at 420 Turney Street.

He has supported the council's plan to widen Bridgeway, and further stated recently that most of the streets in Sausalito should be widened.

Perry has called for a delay on construction of such things as parks in order to spend money improving the water supply in the hill area.

He has pushed for a new library and new city hall, however, along with gaining of public access to the bay.

The city needs better street lights to cut crime, Perry said. On the question of downtown foot patrols, he commented that the new police chief, when hired, should make that decision.

Marincello is not, technically, the city's problem, he said, although he agreed the new community would put a strain on Sausalito's schools and traffic.

Matts, as he is best known, is twice married. His present wife, Philomena, married him in 1953.

S. ROBERT POLITZER, 35, an architect, said in his campaign statements he is running to enhance the conservation, esthetics and planning of Sausalito. He lives at 29 Glen Drive.

He has said he wishes Marincello would never be built, and that the area would be incorporated into the Golden Gate Headlands State Park, but he opposes the city council's action filing a suit against the county to stop the development if the move is just one of harassment.

Refering to police problems, he commented recently, "This city is a desert for teen-agers." He has promised to try to convince a majority of the council to repeal a recently enacted ordinance banning drinking of beer and wine in city parks.

He has also called for new parking lots on the edge of town, with shuttle buses to bring residents to the downtown area. He is opposed to the widening of Bridgeway, or any other streets, for that matter, especially if trees must be cut down.

Politzer is chairman of the Marin County Democratic Central Committee. He has lived in the city four years.

He is employed by the San Francisco firm of Ashen and Allen, and received his training at the Columbia University School of Architecture. He is a native of New York City.

His wife, Olive, is a native of Australia. They have two sons, Nicholas and Adam, and a daughter, Cassandra.

SERGE TRUBACH, 54, an artist, who lives at 631 Bridgeway, ran unsuccessfully for the city council in 1960, 1962 and 1964. He vows to keep on trying.

One of his main campaign planks has been his call for a crackdown on crime in Sausalito, and especially the use of foot patrols. He, himself, was assaulted by a prowler in his home Feb. 1. A suspect was captured within three minutes of his call to police.

"Sausalito is a city without a soul," he said recently. "I want to put a soul back into the city planning." He advocates construction of a multistory parking structure downtown.

Trubach said that widening Bridgeway would bring chaos. He feels the downtown area's development aimed at tourists has destroyed the city's character, he said. The large number of bars in downtown Sausalito has especially been harmful, he charges.

A native of the Ukraine, he grew up in New York City, he attended art schools in New York and Europe. He is a member of the San Francisco and Marin societies of artists. He has received more than 50 awards for his art during his life.

He is on the Sausalito Art Festival Committee.

Trubach has a daughter, Mrs. Gabrielle Throop, who lives in San Anselmo.

Newest City Has Largest Council Field

Tiburon, in its first election since incorporation, will have eight candidates seeking three seats on the city council. The three incumbents are included.

Planning, an issue which helped turn sentiment in favor of the incorporation in 1964, is still of major concern, especially the question of development of the waterfront.

But costs have also been discussed. The city contracts for police services with the county sheriff's office, and that service has brought both complaints and praise.

Election stands and candidates' biographies follow:

ALFRED J. AZEVEDO, 53, who lives at 1875 Centro West Street, has served on the boards of the Reed School District and the Tiburon Fire Protection District. His wife is chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission.

Calling for efficient government, he said he would speak for the long-term residents of the community. He has lived in the Tiburon area for 15 years.

"I also want to see some action taken on parks and recreation," he said. "And of course, we're all concerned about our taxes."

Azevedo has also called for a better audit of city funds, charging a closed meeting on the budget was held last summer.

Azevedo, a native of Oakland, attended San Jose State College and the University of California, receiving a doctor of education degree. He is principal of the Marina Adult School in the San Francisco school system.

He is a member of the Marina Lions Club in San Francisco and has been active in the Mental Health Society.

Azevedo and his wife, Margaret W. Azevedo, have a son, Joseph, and a daughter, Janet.

WILLIAM R. BREMER, 36, of 120 Taylor Road, is a five-year resident of Tiburon.

An attorney, Bremer said he wanted to provide an "independent voice" to the council.

"I believe there is general apathy to government in this country and that it must start to be corrected at the grassroots," he said when he announced he would run.

He has called planning the fundamental issue of the campaign and said he was not sure the city would lose revenue if it failed to develop the waterfront.

Bremer's office is in San Francisco, where he was born. He is a graduate of the University of San Francisco Law School.

A veteran of the Korean War, he is a major in the Marine Corps Reserve. Bremer and his wife, Margaret, have a son, Mark, 13, and a daughter, Karen, 5.

ANNE L. ELLINWOOD

FRED C. HANNAHS

JACQUELINE A. PARNELL

ALFRED J. AZEVEDO

WILLIAM R. BREMER

ANNE L. ELLINWOOD, 40, is one of the three incumbents seeking re-election, this time to a full four-year term. She lives at 1810 Mountain View Drive and is a 10-year resident of the Tiburon Peninsula and a businesswoman.

She says: "I believe Tiburon has done an extraordinarily good job in its first 21 months. We have moved ahead in positive planning . . . we have through interim measures held the line to preserve our 'right to decide' . . . And even with such a high level of excellence, we are still one of the top cities in the county in the building activity index."

She urges that the city proceed with comprehensive zoning, preparation of a Municipal Code for its ordinances and establishment of long range program for capital improvements along with guiding the development of Angel Island.

She is the third district appointee to the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Marin Council of Community Services, member of Marin Health Facilities Planning Committee, board of directors of Canon Kip Community Center and a director of the Golden Gate Neighborhood Centers.

A native San Franciscan, she is single. She holds a Master's Degree in economics from the University of California.

THOMAS E. DROHAN, of 162 Stewart Drive, said he is running for council to carry on the work started by the city's citizens planning study committee.

Drohan was named head of the committee in January, 1965. The group, with 200 members, was named to get goals for the new city's planning.

"I believe . . . I've been able to get as good a feel of what our people on the Peninsula want as anyone in the city," he said, referring to the committee's work.

"My objective will be to see that the thousands of man hours contributed by talented men and women during the course of that study bear tangible fruit as our city is developed."

A Tiburon resident since 1959, Drohan is marketing director and head of the Grocery Products Division of Foremost Dairies, Inc., San Francisco. He said he feels his business experience will help him develop a better-organized government.

A graduate of Harvard, Drohan came to Tiburon from New York City. He has served as vice president of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

He and his wife, Sabra, have a son, Thomas Jr., 8, and two daughters, Sabra, 5, and Michele, 2.

BRANWELL D. FANNING, 40, of 4 Burrell Court, said he entered the race because "the city needs a businessman-commuter on the council."

He has called for intensive planning so that the city will be prepared for a heavy influx of tourists in the near future.

"I am firmly convinced that Tiburon is unique, that its orderly development must be planned for the betterment of all and that this can and must be done within a tax structure that will allow all our citizens to remain here, even after their most productive years are behind them," he said. "They have earned this right."

Fanning is vice president of the Haley Corp., a San Francisco travel agency. He is a former chairman of the Reedland Property Owners Assn. and chairman of the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council before incorporation.

A Tiburon resident, he has called for a council which operates in "a little more business-like way."

He and his wife, Carolyn, have three daughters.

FRED C. HANNAHS, 45, of 440 Ridge Road, is an 11-year resident of the community.

It was Hannahs who raised the issue of the city's audit, and who made the charge a budget meeting was held in secret by the city council.

An incumbent, Hannahs has been one of the stormiest members of the council, once resigning from a committee studying drainage when a decision went against him and chastising other council members over procedures used in hiring a city engineer.

He, along with Azevedo and another incumbent, Mrs. Jacqueline A. Parnell, have been running as a slate of candidates.

A private investor and former store manager, Hannahs is a native of Kenosha, Wish. He is a graduate of Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn.

He was active on the Tiburon Incorporation Committee and is former secretary of the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and of the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council.

He is former president of the Tiburon Property Owners Assn. and former member of the Tiburon Fire Protection District board. He is a member of the Marin Conservation League, the Save the Redwoods League and the National Wildlife Federation.

He and his wife, Eleanor, have three sons, Scott, Kerry and Todd.

HAL R. LEVER, 38, lives at 100 Lyford Drive. He said he was running to "contribute to the welfare and progress of Tiburon."

"We should look to a broadening of the tax base through controlled tourism coupled with proper consideration of parking and recreational facilities," he said.

Lever called correction of drainage problems a top priority item. "There can be no excuse for not having attended to this mess long ago," he said.

He has called for heavier use of the city manager. "The council cannot be, and should not be, a reviewing board except in the most extreme cases or when specifically requested by the city manager or planning commission," he added.

He also has asked speedier development of Angel Island State Park.

Lever is a sales executive for Power Engineering Co. of Los Angeles. He is a native of Houston, Tex. He and his wife, Edith, have two daughters, Inice, 17, and Hollie, 8.

JACQUELINE A. PARNELL, 36, of 8 Felipa Court, is the third member of a slate of candidates running on a single platform. The others are Fred C. Hannahs and Alfred J. Azevedo. She is an incumbent.

She has asked for "a minimal city at lowest cost commensurate with efficiency" and for better planning. "We must have intelligent conservation that does not force our citizens to move out."

Growth of business in the down town area should be encouraged, as long as it is attractive, she said. "Every dollar from sales tax is a dollar that won't have to come from property tax," she added.

She promised to push for hiring of a fulltime city planner and to support a progam for acquisition of land for parks.

A native of Eureka, she has lived in Tiburon for eight years. She is a graduate of the University of California. Her husband, Edward J. Parnell, is business representative for the San Francisco City and County Employees Union.

She is a charter member of the Tiburon Landmarks Society and member of the Marin Conservation League and California Tomorrow and the Marin Audubon Society.

She has three sons, William Blackford, 14, and Frick Blackford, 11, by a former marriage, and Peredith Parnell, 4. Her first husband was killed in Korea.

THE BOOK PAGES: Young Activists Speak

By DON KEOWN

THE NEW STUDENT LEFT edited by Mitchell Cohen and Dennis Hale, Beacon Press, 288 pages, $4.95.

GO UP FOR GLORY by Bill Russell and William McSweeney, Coward - McCann, 217 pages, $5.

Few of their elders bother to peer beyond the beards and sandals, before rendering judgments on the conduct and the motives of those young intellectuals who are currently stirring up things, both on and off the college campuses.

It might behoove them, however, to give these young people a listen as well as a look. And one way of doing this is to read "The New Student Left," an anthology compiled by Mitchell Cohen and Dennis Hale, themselves members of this fringe.

The essays and articles have been drawn from a number of sources in an effort to communicate the basic concerns and positions of these young activists.

Civil rights, freedom of speech, war on poverty, the labor movement, religious commitment—these are some of the topics explored. Omitted, however, is the peace movement.

What emerges generally is a distaste for and impatience with smug complacency, not only as it exists among the older generations but also as it remains imbedded in the overwhelming majority of their own generation.

These are young men and women who are committed to the concept of social justice. They are revolted by the materialism around them, and they are determined not to let themselves be fitted into any such bland pattern.

To their critics, they hurl this challenge: "All over the world intellectuals are breaking out of the old, stultified order. Before you call them 'communist' or 'immature,' stop a moment, let yourselves be a little more insecure, so that you can listen to what they say and perhaps feel the pulse of their challenge. . . ."

Many of the articles come from The Activist, organ of Oberlin College's liberal students. Also represented are other college leftist and intellectual publications, the working papers of their organizations, the addresses delivered before their conferences and mimeographed broadsheets.

Mario Savio and Jerry Berman, names familiar to Californians, are there, as are the likes of Carl Wittman, Bruce Payne, Paul Potter and others from the leadership of these new forces. But if there is any one spokesman for this very articulate and individualistic group, it would have to be Thomas Hayden, past president of Students for a Democratic Society and the same young man who only recently returned from an unauthorized trek to North Viet Nam.

Collegians, or at least some of them, have come a long way, it would seem, from the panty raids, the telephone booth packing, the goldfish swallowing and the beerbust sprees. It is significant, these young people tell us, that we are sometimes more vocal and vitriolic in denouncing demonstrations staged for social purposes than we ever were in criticizing the foolish, purposeless shenanigans of yesteryear.

BILL RUSSELL'S "Go Up For Glory" is a double-barreled autobiography.

First, the book offers the sports buff an inside view of the game of basketball as it is played collegiately and professionally (including Russell's all-star selections).

More important, it is the frank statement of one Negro celebrity's point-of-view concerning America's racial problem.

This is an "as-told-to" book. In this case, the subject's collaborator is sportswriter William McSweeny.

McSweeny's participation does not damage the book's value as relaxed entertainment for the sports fan. But is does pose questions for those primarily interested in the more serious racial aspects of the book.

The question must inevitably arise: How much of "Go Up For Glory" is Russell and how much is McSweeny? Has the sportswriter simply recorded Russell's account of his life verbatim (if so, then why a collaborator?), has he restrained himself to the application of some polish, or has he rewritten and reworded and changed the emphasis?

Suspicions are aroused by some jarring insertions of jive talk, by jargon more closely associated with sports writers than with players and by an overstress upon those points which a professional writer might expect to help sell the book.

Still, Russell must have approved the end product. And he is an intelligent, outspoken, articulate person. He is also sensitive to the point of being thin-skinned, suspicious, extremely proud.

BILL RUSSELL
The Negro celebrity

If this, then, is as the jacket says the "unvarnished" story of Bill Russell, then it is an explosive attack by him upon collegiate and amateur basketball, a less critical but nevertheless unusually candid description of what the pro game is like, and a declaration of war against bigotry and second class citizenship.

There are some frank evaluations about the personalities Russell has encountered on his way up the sports ladder, and sometimes he winds up sounding peevish or petty. Nor do his own contributions to the cause of civil rights (greater than those of most Negro sports stars) seem to qualify him for the kind of criticism he levels at those who have made a more continuous effort at far greater personal sacrifice.

Still, Russell emerges as something far more admirable than just another muscle man.

Our Reviewers Report

Diverting Reading

THE VIEW FROM THE SIXTIES—Memories of a spent life by George Oppenheimer, David McKay Co., 273 pages, $5. Reviewed by Price Hall.

"The View From The Sixties" is George Oppenheimer's memories from the vantage of his nearly 70 years.

His early recollections were not sharp and the first half of the book is a pedestrian plodding through dropped names, ankle-deep. One has the feeling that the descendants of passengers on the Mayflower will some day vie with descendants of the Algonquin Hotel hangers-on for sheer numbers. The literary crowd in New York in the 1920s led an interesting and exciting life, but others have told the story.

In Oppenheimer's experiences in Hollywood in the 30s we give him a big plus for not going in for the popular expose that we are getting a bit too much of these years. In direct contrast, Oppenheimer uses vulgarity sparingly and rather self consciously as if he had been told to include at least a little.

Oppenheimer's memory seems to improve in the 1940s and 50s and so does his book. His stories of the war years are lively and graphic. His associates shrink to the stature of mortals and have fun with each other.

This isn't a great book, but it is diverting and you end up liking George Oppenheimer.

Classical Culture

ANCIENT EGYPT by Lionel Casson and the editors of Time-Life Books, Time Inc., 192 pages. Reviewed by Larry Kramer.

"Ancient Egypt" is a part of the Time-Life series on the "Great Ages of Man."

It attempts to combine a scholarly, basic text by Lionel Casson, professor of classics at New York University, and the Life picture-story technique. This approach should satisfy most general readers who would like a survey of the high points of classic Egyptian life and culture.

Professor Casson's text is clear but so brief that it cannot serve as more than an hors d'oeuvres. On the other hand, the picture essays take the part for the whole and concentrate on a single, more limited facet of a period. All of them hold the reader's attention, but one on the engineering problems of the building of the pyramids and another on the deciphering of the hieroglyphics are extraordinarily well done.

In addition to its intellectual qualities, the book is extremely well produced with the excellent photography we have come to expect from this publisher.

This very readable volume with its down-to-earth emphasis on life as it was really lived by real people will be of particular value to the high school student for whom life prior to 1950, to say nothing of ancient Egypt, often seems unreal and mysterious.

Sorry Show

PUNCTURED POEMS by Richard Armour, Prentice-Hall, 48 pages, $1.50. Reviewed by Jean Langham.

Richard Armour, an English professor at Scripps College in Pomona, has made quite a success out of spoofing the academic world, although he also has written serious biography and criticism.

His latest endeavor or gimmick, coupling famous first lines with his own second line, is a sorry show and not at all clever.

Here are a couple of excerpts:

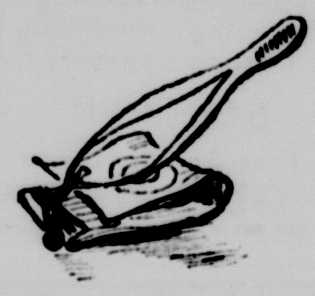
"Tiger, Tiger, burning bright, what has caused you to ignite?"

"Water, water, everywhere; The plumbing badly needs repair."

If you find these scintilating, there are many more readily available at your nearest paperback dealer.

Sleuths & Suspense

THE FAMILY AT TAMMERTON by Margaret Erskine, Doubleday, 214 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.



This is an interesting, if not exciting, and rather old-fashioned mystery novel cut to the classic pattern.

The young nurse, Louise Morton, is assigned to attend an invalid woman in a remote English mansion occupied by an odd lot. Murder soon brings Inspector Septimus Finch of Scotland Yard to the gloomy old place as well.

The pace seems a bit slow, but characterizations are good enough, and the plot is a solid one.

Not the best mystery you'll read this season. But not the worst one, either.

Bad Seed Is Waste Of Time

It's a waste of time to plant poor lawn seed; you'll not get a worthwhile lawn nor your money's worth from it.

Good lawn seed is good for many reasons.

First of all, it has the right kinds of grasses in it.

Secondly, it has no weeds. Seldom are bothersome weeds apt to be present, but in some of the less expensive seed blends not all foreign seed is removed, termed "crop" on the label.

And finally, you will be buying only seed that you want, not a lot of extraneous chaff, dirt, or species which will not long survive. The seed sprouts well and goes far (good grasses run millions of seeds to the pound).

These features can be checked by reading the label. Good seed, of course, can't compete with poor seed on price. So expect to pay a fair price, and you'll usually be assured of the above quality even without checking the label.

HANDYMAN'S CORNER

EVEN IN marvelously mild Marin, the gardener who owns a greenhouse enjoys a definite advantage. To build this one, eight-by-nine, but adaptable to any size, send $1.50 to Independent-Journal, Post Office Box 215, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., 10510, and ask for Easi-Bild Greenhouse Pattern No. 112. Directions are clear, and it is a relatively simple project.

CHECKLIST FOR MARIN GARDENERS

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

- Now is the time to plant your petunias, marigolds, lobelias, begonias and many other flowering plants.
- It is time, too, to get your vegetable garden started from seed—beans, lettuce, carrots, beets, Swiss chard, etc., should all be going into the ground.
- Important is a timely check of fruit trees and oaks for the tent caterpillar. You'll recognize them from the spider - like webs in the crotches of afflicted trees. Spray at once if they are present.
- It is last call for bareroot roses and fruit trees. There are still a few available.
- Fertilizing is timely for just abut everything except camellias, azaleas and rhododendrons.
- Get the jump on crabgrass by practicing pre-emergence controls on your lawn now.

On The Stereo Scene

By JOHN SUNIER

THE MUSIC OF ARNOLD SCHOENBERG, VOLUME III: Chamber Symphony No. 1, Five Pieces for Orchestra, Herzgewachse, Four Orchestral Songs, Kol Nidre, Chamber Symphony No. 2, Dreimal Tausend Jahre, BACH re-arrangements: Komm Gott, Schmucke Dich, St. Anne Prelude and Fugue — Robert Craft conducting The Cleveland Orchestra/CBC Symphony Orchestra/Columbia Symphony/Festival Singers of Toronto/Regina Sarfaty, mezzo-soprano/Rita Tritter, soprano/Victor Braun, speaker — Columbia Stereo M2S 709:

This continuing series is a landmark in recording projects, of perhaps even greater value than the Stravinsky series which Columbia has produced over the years.

Each of the three Schoenberg volumes contain two discs. Volume I contained four vocal works, including the well-known "Pierrot Lunaire," in addition to the Violin Concerto. Volume II seemed to collect the Schoenberg works which would be enjoyable even to those to whom atonal music is anathema. "Pelleas and Melisande" and "Transfigured Night" are highly refined romanticism and could conceivably please those who delved into nothing deeper than movie scores in their musical education.

This new volume features many varied works, some only two or three minutes. Again there is a well-planned balance between music that is rather guarded harmonically and that which is adventurous 12-tone style.

"The Five Pieces for Orchestra" are masterpieces and short enough that although they may fall rather harshly on the ears upon first hearing, further study and acclimation is easy. Two of the chamber symphonies are presented, as well as three Schoenberg re-arrangements of music of Bach — fascinating in their display of his techniques and ideas about contrapuntal voicing.

The 56-page booklet of notes and texts is a fine piece of work, with articles by such people as Glenn Gould in addition to the composer himself, and musical examples. The last band on the second disc also contains an interview with Schoenberg.

"NO SWEAT FOR THE DRYCLEANER"

Here's a tip for home launderers who have difficulty removing body oil stains from shirts and blouses. Often oils and greases repel soap and water treatment like a duck's back resists rain water. But these stains are no problem for your drycleaner, advises the National Institute of Drycleaning, because drycleaning solvents dissolve oils, fats, and greases.

Body oil stains can sometimes go unnoticed. But the Institute reports that this type of stain is very visible on particular fabric blends, such as cotton or Dacron blends. Even the drycleaner may have difficulty removing these stains if they're allowed to remain in the garment too long. But if you take prompt action, body oil stains are no sweat for the professional drycleaner.
